Israel Is Determined To Smash Blockade

Will Make Every 'Sacrifice'

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel warned today it would "undergo every sacrifice" to reopen the blockaded Gulf of Aqaba as feuding Jordan and Egypt patched up their differences with a defense treaty to present a common Arab front to the Israelis.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban of Israel made the statement at a news conference dealing with Egypt's blockade of the gulf, an explosive point in the Middle East crisis.

King Hussein of Jordan, long an object of virulent Egyptian propaganda, flew unexpectedly to Cairo and signed a five-year defense treaty with President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Cairo Radio said.

NATIONS LINKED

The treaty stipulates that an attack on one country would be considered an attack on the other and the latter should use every means at its disposal "including the use of its armed forces." Thus Jordan was linked with Egypt in case of Israeli attack.

Eban made his comment on Aqaba after the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reported that a Liberian-American tanker had been barred from the gulf by a warning shot from an Egyptian patrol boat. The U.S. State Department in Washington said it knew of no such ship in the area.

Eban said Israel will "have nothing to do with any suggestion or arrangement which provides that all ships can go through and Israeli ships cannot."

VITAL INTEREST

Free transit of the gulf—the route for Israel's oil supply—is a "vital national interest which will under no circumstances be surrendered or abandoned . . . and on which our nation stakes all it has and will undergo every sacrifice," Eban declared.

The foreign minister also cited the Egyptian troop buildup in the Sinai Desert, on Israel's southwest border, and said Israel had responded with the buildup of its own forces which is "at least corresponding to the Egyptian measures."

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser claimed Soviet support for his blockade of the gulf, the sole outlet for the Israeli port of Elath and the main route for Israel's oil imports.

In Jerusalem, Premier Levi Eshkol told Israel's parliament he expects the big Western powers to make a combined effort to keep the gulf open for international shipping without dis-

Viet Cong Suffer Greatest Losses

DA NANG, South Vietnam (UPI)—May was the bloodiest month of the Vietnam war for the U.S. Marines.

They killed more Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops than in any one month since arriving in Vietnam more than two years ago.

And they suffered more than 5,000 casualties in the bitter fighting.

Marine intelligence sources said the series of border battles in northwestern South Vietnam had thrown back a determined North Vietnamese spring offensive aimed at capturing two of the border strong points—Khe Sanh and Con Thien—and "sanitized" the once-neutral Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating North and South Vietnam.

The Marines, along with South Vietnamese troops, also met the heaviest Communist fire of the war in May. For the first time the North Vietnamese used Soviet rockets, long-range artillery and devastating heavy mortar barrages in support of their troops.

They also introduced for the first time large numbers of Russian sniper rifles equipped with telescopic sights which killed nearly as many Marines as were wounded in three battles.

From April 24 when the first of the border battles erupted at Khe Sanh until the conclusion of the DMZ campaign Sunday midnight, the Marine casualties were 472 killed and 4,572 wounded.

The counted Communist dead for the same period were 3,167 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers along with 246 Reds taken prisoner. The majority of the Communist dead, intelligence sources said were North Vietnamese.

The "probable" Communist dead are never totaled by the Marines. Nor are any statistics kept on the probable number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese wounded.

The Marines emphasized that the majority of their casualties were slightly wounded and were returned to duty shortly after treatment. Many of the dead and seriously wounded were victims of the intensified mortar and rocket fire which the North Vietnamese have introduced into the border campaign.

MARIN CEREMONY

Tribute To Those Who Didn't Return

Old Glory fluttered in a gentle wind on the steps of the Courthouse in San Rafael today as 400 people paused to pay tribute to the men who went to war and never returned.

While veterans and their families remembered — their words were occasionally drowned by the passing cars of holidaymakers bent on spending Memorial Day on the road.

Lt. Col. Hampton Green Jr. of Hamilton Air Force Base, the principal speaker, said it was not enough that on this day graves be decorated and words spoken.

"We must devote our minds and souls and dedicate our hearts to upholding the principles of democracy that those who gallantly laid down their lives will be assured their legacy of honor and meritorious service still lives," he said.

The crowd stood or sat silently in the sunshine as flowers and wreathes were laid at the foot of the war memorial by veterans and civic groups.

There were floral tributes too from fraternal organizations and service clubs.

The invocation and benediction were made by Rev. Wesley Baker of the San Rafael Presbyterian Church and Rev. Thomas J. Kennedy of St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael.

As a salute from a firing squad rang out across the square, the crows that had remembered quietly disbanded — past three teen-age youths who had slept on the grass through it all.

U.S. 6th Fleet Reports Tailing

ABOARD THE AIRCRAFT CARRIER U.S. AMERICA (UPI)—A Soviet destroyer escort and a Russian trawler today tailed units of the U.S. 6th Fleet operating in the Eastern Mediterranean during the Middle East crisis.

Capt. D. D. Engen, commanding officer of the U.S.S. America, a 77,000-ton aircraft carrier in task force 60, said the Soviet destroyer escort had been following his ship and other 6th fleet craft since Sunday.

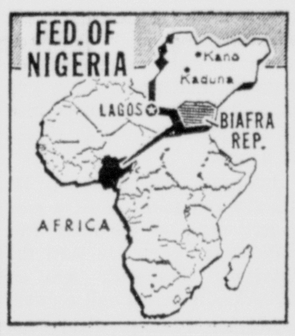
'500' Viewers Have To Watch Re-Runs

About 1,000 people who paid $6 and $7 a seat to watch the Indianapolis 500-mile race on television at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo had to be content with seeing a videotape re-run of the start when the race was postponed because of rain.

In the event of cancellation, the management said today's tickets would be good for whatever day the race was held.



NEW REPUBLIC — A section of Eastern Nigeria (crosshatched section) has seceded and declared itself the independent state of Biafra (UPI Telephoto)

East Section Of Nigeria Splits Off

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Lt. Col. C. O. Ojukwu of Eastern Nigeria today declared his region the independent state of Biafra.

The head of Nigeria's military government, Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowen, called the secession an "act of rebellion" and ordered general mobilization of the Nigerian army.

He also imposed an embargo on Port Harcourt and three other ports and towns in the east.

Gowon said he "regrets that some innocent Nigerians in the eastern states will suffer considerable hardship and possible loss of life in the hard days ahead." He said that eastern Nigerians living in Lagos should feel free to go about their business.

He ordered the authorities to "kill on the spot persons molesting easterners in Lagos."

In his broadcast from his capital, Enugu, Ojukwu said he had declared independence in the name of the people of the region who "no longer can be protected in your lives and property by any government outside the eastern region."

The declaration came about 17 months after the military had toppled Nigeria's civilian government in January, 1966. The split between the east and the rest of the country came last June 29 when a bloody uprising overthrew the regime of Maj. Gen. Johnson T.U. Aguiyi-Ironsi, an easterner.

The situation intensified in September after riots in the north where thousands of easterners were killed.

$500,000 Claim By Fired Span Painter

Former Golden Gate Bridge painter Paul Powell of Mill Valley, fired in April for alleged incompetence, has filed a claim for $500,000 damages against bridge directors.

Powell, of 55 Bay View Terrace, was one of three painters whose dismissals sparked a rash of allegations of race prejudice against James Adam, general manager of the bridge.

The claim asks that Powell, shop steward for Local 4 of the Painters Union and a bridge painter since 1961, be given his old job back and receive back pay in the amount of $1,030 a month.

His attorney, Charles C. Moore, said at his San Francisco home today, "No criticism was ever made of Powell's work before he testified for a fellow painter last January in an accident benefit case before the State Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board."

Powell is white and the two other fired painters are Negro.

"We claim Powell was fired at the same time as the other painters to distract from the fact race bias was being exercised," said Moore.

"Because of state law, workmen with a public or semi-public body get no unemployment benefits. They can be fired at the whim of their employers. . . . . It is a step back to the kind of labor relations prevalent in the '30s."

Moore said that if the bridge directors throw out the claim, his next move will be to file a damage suit in Superior Court.

Bridge directors are already involved in a dispute over the firing of the two Negro painters. Yesterday, director John E. Dearman charged the management had failed to honor pledges made to the State Fair Employment ractices Commission.

Rain Halts Indianapolis 500 After 18 Laps; Jones Leading

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Rain halted the 500 mile race after only 18 laps today and anxious drivers fretted under makeshift shelters in the pits waiting for a weather break to permit them to resume competition.

Parnelli Jones, one of the favorites, was moving away from the pack when the red light came on to stop the field. Behind him were Dan Gurney and A. J. Foyt.

But another prime favorite, Mario Andretti, was on the sidelines, forced out by clutch trouble when the rain came.

His crew worked feverishly to try to repair the car so he could resume racing if the track dried enough to allow the field to try again. Unless they succeeded, Andretti might not get back into action.

The rain started as a drizzle on the northeast turn and then increased to a steady downpour for five to 10 minutes. It was still drizzling more than an hour after the race was halted.

Only once before had the race been stopped before the 250 mile mark made it official. That was in 1926, when the race was halted after 72 laps, resumed and then stopped finally after 400 miles.

Officialls expected to try to resume the race today, being viewed by 300,000, but the weather forecast was unfavorable. Rain was also likely tomorrow, which could delay the completion of the race until Thursday.

Jones had the speed up to 158.156 after two laps, was drawing away from the field, and had lapped the slowest cars after 25 miles when the race was halted.

His speed after 10 miles had slowed to 147.144 because of the yellow light, which limits speeds to around 125 mph.

At the time the race was stopped, Dan Gurney was second, A.J. Foyt third, Joe Leonard fourth, Al Unser fifth, Art Pollardk sixth, Bobby Unser seventh, Gordon Johncock eighth, Jim Mc Elreath ninth

Leathernecks Capture Key Hilltop Fortress

SAIGON (UPI) — Leathernecks, some of the "brave heroes" cited by South Vietnam in a Memorial Day message to its ally, charged through Communist gunfire and captured a key hilltop fortress, U.S. military spokesmen said today.

The spokesmen said American troops killed 82 Communists in this and other scattered action and found the bodies of 45 Reds killed in earlier clashes.

But 17 Americans were killed and 92 wounded, most of them in fighting just south of the border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and in the guerrilla-infested Central Highlands.

Two companies of the 4th Marine Regiment, about 410 men, stormed Hill 174 yesterday and in eight hours of tough, artillery-backed fighting dislodged North Vietnamese gunners who had been raining shells on Leatherneck posts.

Nearby, Communists slammed into U.S. paratroopers with mortars, recoilless rifles and small arms. They killed eight Americans and wounded 14 others in one attack from fortified positions. But the Reds were driven back with the help of air power and left at least six dead behind.

And it was also reported today from Saigon that U.S. warplanes yesterday attacked Communist infiltration routes in the southern part of North Vietnam.

The spokesman said no raids were launched against the Hanoi-Haiphong area. But lhe refused to answer questions about Washington reports that U.S. warplanes have been ordered not to strike targets within 10 miles of the two key cities.

Of the 121 missions reported today, all but three were in the southern panhandle.

MUIR WOODS ADMITTANCE FEE DELAYED

Visitors to Muir Woods Nationel Monument won't have to pay an admittance fee this summer, after all.

The National Park Service today announced its plans for charging 50 cents to enter Muir Woods, scheduled to start June 15, has been postponed "until approximately mid-September."

The announcement by John A. Rutter, National Park Service regional director in San Francisco, said "construction of facilities for fee collection during the heavy summer travel season would detract from the visitor's experience and would not make it feasible to administer the fee."

LBJ Prays At Ranch For Peace

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson observed Memorial Day with prayers at his ranch and an expression of America's hope for "a brighter day of peace and progress in Vietnam, in Asia, and through out the world."

The 11 a. m. cdt (noon edt) worship service was private. His comment was in a message to Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, South Vietnamese chief of state, which was made public by the Texas White House.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Spying Pair

LONDON (AP) — A German and a Scotsman are being held without bail on charges of trying to get secret information affecting British or American security.

It was not immediately known if the two cases were connected.

The Scot, William McAffer, a 30-year-old bookie, was picked up in Dunoon, three miles from the U.S. Polaris submarine base at Holy Loch. He was charged with trying to get secret information from an American sailor attached to the Simon Lake, the depot ship of the Polaris squadron.

The German, Peter Dorschel, a 26-year-old seaman married to a British girl, was arrested at Prestwich, in northern England. He was charged with violation of the Official Secrets Act, but no details were announced.

Freedom Soon

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's military dictatorship announced today that half of the 6,000 political prisoners arrested after the April 21 coup will be released in the next two weeks.

Brig. Stylianos Patacos, the Interior minister, told newsmen 1,260 prisoners have already been freed and 800 more would be let go by the end of the week. The prisoners have been kept on the southeastern Aegean island of Yioura.

Nine persons were convicted by a military court last night of various offenses against the regime. They were given sentences ranging from one month to two years in jail on charges of resisting army authority and disrupting public order.

Poppy Doomed

RANGOON (AP) — A government newspaper says Burma will stamp out the opium-producing poppy plant by 1969.

Without citing figures, the Guardian said poppy cultivation is "now less than half of last year."

The paper said a medicinal plant called se-gandana has been introduced by the Opium Eradication Project, and this is "proving to be a more profitable undertaking for the former poppy cultivators."

Aussie Arrives

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Australian Prime Minister Harold E. Holt, in Southern California on the first leg of a whirlwind 20-day tour of the United States, Canada and Britain, said last day night the Free World "must resist Communist oppression wherever it exists."

Holt, who arrived here with his wife yesterday afternoon, said Australia has no immediate plans to increase its number of troops in Viet Nam, but added that his country always is the first to help militarily in "conflicts such as the free world faces in Vietnam."

Police Purge

MOSCOW (AP) — A purge in the Soviet secret police is pictured by some sources as a blow to Alexander N. Shelepin, 48, a party Communist party secretary once rumored to be in line for the top job of Leonid I. Brezhnev, party general secretary.

One of Shelepin's proteges, Vladimir Y. Semichastny, was removed 10 days ago as boss of the secret police—the KGB—and given a minor post in the Ukraine. Informed sources say since then the leadership of the police has been quietly purged.

The informants said the decision to fire Semichastny and replace him with Yuri V. Andropov, 52, another party secretary, was made and carried out within six hours.

Extra Duty

WASHINGTON AP) — Up to 3,700 Air Force officers face extended duty because, the Pentagon said, the service needs experienced officers.

Although the Pentagon didn't mention a pilot shortage, many veteran Air Force pilots have been switched from desk jobs back to flying because of the growing demands of the Vietnam war.

The pilot shortage also was indicated three months ago when Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara ordered flying officers on desk jobs to be reassigned to pilot assignments whenever possible.

Carrier Critic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The USS John F. Kennedy, the aircraft carrier christened last Saturday, already is obsolete, says a congressman.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., vice chairman of the Joint Atomic energy Committee, noted the carrier is not nuclear-powered. He said it is a tragedy it "has to be shackled with the obsolescence of the oil propulsion methods of another century."

To Halt Riot

POINT A PITRE, Guadaloupe (UPI)—French authorities today flew in police and troop reinforcements to quell Peking-leaning Communists who police said led a weekend of bloody rioting.

Officials said at least seven persons died in the violence which swept this verdant Carbibean isle.

Unofficial reports put the figure higher: 15 dead and 100 injured.

Seeks Plane

BONN (UPI)—The U.S. Embassy said yesterday the Soviet Union has requested the return of a MIG17 fighter flown here last week by a Russian defector.

The embassy said the plane was at the U.S. Air Force Base at Wiesbaden where it was apparently being thoroughly inspected.

German sources said Soviet Ambassador Semyon Tsarapkin had demanded to see the pilot, Lt. Vasiliy Ilyich Epatko, who was reportedly in American hands.

Arcade On Agenda

Vatican Curia Is Shaken By New Red Caps

Conservatives May Lose Grip Of Select Body

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A major shakeup in the Vatican Curia, the central administration of the Roman Catholic Church, is expected following Pope Paul's designation of 27 new cardinals.

Fourteen of the 27 men the pontiff chose yesterday are members of the Curia or its diplomatic service. To move them up the ladder, Vatican sources expect major changes in the Curia soon, including perhaps the replacement of the secretary of state, Amelito Cardinal Cicognani, 84, and of Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, 76, one of the church's leading conservatives who heads the Congregation for Doctrine of the Faith, the former Holy Office.

ABBOT PROMOTED

The abbot primate of the 12,000-man Benedictine Order, a largely conservative monastic order that is strong in the Latin countries, also was promoted out of his job by being selected for a cardinal's red hat.

The 15 promotions will mean at least 150 changes all down the line as the prelates named cardinal move up from their present jobs and other churchmen step up to fill vacancies at many levels.

Only the 12 residential archbishops — three Americans, two Frenchmen, two Italians, an Argentine, a Pole, a German, a Bolivian and an Indonesian — will remain where they are as Cardinals.

OUT OF JOB

One new cardinal who automatically moves out of his post is Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Brennan of Shenandoah, Pa., the 73-year-old dean of the Roman Rota tribunal. The next ranking judge, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Boleslow Filipiak, a Pole, succeeds him.

The Pope will find another post in the Curia for Msgr. Brennan.

Likely candidates for the post of secretary of state are the two Italian archbishops who have been Cardinal Cicognani's chief executives, Antonio Samore, 61, who directs the papal ambassadors and the Vatican's relations with other governments, and Angelo De Acqua, 63, who directs apostolic delegates and relations with church hierarchies abroad.

Some Vatican experts believe Archbishop Samore might succeed Carlo Cardinal Confalonieri as president of the Pontifical Commission for Latin America since he was once nuncio in Colombia and has done much to focus Vatican attention on Latin America's needs.

Cardinal Ottaviani's chief assistant in the congregation for Doctrine of the Faith is Archbishop Pietro Parente, 76, who is also among the new cardinals.

Session Of Common Market Leaders Is Total Failure

ROME (AP) — The European Common Market leaders failed today to find agreement on any of the major problems at their summit conference.

They set a foreign ministers meeting in Brussels, Belgium, for June 6 to discuss British entry and membership of a combined Common Market executive and called for yet another summit conference before the end of the year to deal with political unity.

Thus, in the first Common Market summit conference in six years, the leaders of the six-nation community found themselves unable to overcome the outstanding issues they came here to discuss.

The wishes of five of the six members for quick action on when to start negotiations on British membership ran up against the stone-wall opposition of President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Informed sources said De Gaulle also faced down a concerted drive of the other five nations for action to turn the economic community into an integrated political unit as well.

Belgian Premier Paul Van Den Boeynants acted as spokesman for the integrationists in the community and put the case directly to De Gaulle.

But De Gaulle, who opposes any arrangement smacking of supranationality, remained unbudged. The best the meeting could do was put the problem off for another summit conference before 1968.

Career Medic Against Jail For Physician

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — A high-ranking career medical officer in the U.S. Army has told a mnilitary judge that a jail sentence for Capt. Howard B. Levy, a doctor, would have a harmful effect on physicians drafted into the Army.

Levy, 30, a dermatologist, is on trial before a 10-man court-martial panel for refusing to train Green Beret aidmen or medics in the basics of treating skin diseases. He also is charged with promoting disloyalty and disaffection among U.S. troops through his outspoken opposition to the war in Vietnam.

Called by the defense yesterday was Lt. Col. Richard Coppedge of Ft. Meade, Md., now studying at John Hopkins University and for four years—1962-66 — the division surgeon in charge of medical training for Special Forces aidmen.

Coppedge, over prosecution objections, gave his views on the results of a possible jail sentence for Levy, who could receive up to 11 years imprisonment if convicted.

Youth Is Shot In Dance Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —A 17-year-old boy was shot and two special policemen injured last night when a group of youths tried to crash a dance.

Police said about 15 persons tried to get into a dance in the Fillmore District that was sponsored by the Inspiration Social Club. About 100 teen-agers were inside.

Fighting began when the special police tried to stop the crashers. One youth fired five shots aimlessly into the scuffle, police said, shooting Willie Sparks of San Francisco in the groin.

Bandits Take $250,000 In Diamond Haul

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Armed bandits took an estimated $250,000 in diamond rings from a downtown jewelry store yesterday after locking four employees in a basement room.

The two men, brandishing pistols, forced the employees of the Brock & Co. store into the basement, then rifled showcases and a display window.

The store manager, Al Marggraff, said the two Negro bandits were the same pair who had visited the store last Saturday to price rings. They returned yesterday morning, minutes after the store had opened.

"They were calm and well-mannered," the manager said. "They told me that if we didn't give them any trouble, we wouldn't get hurt."

While one of the men remained in the main showroom, the other ushered the employees to the basement.

"The man who took me downstairs prodded me with his gun," Marggraff said. "I wasn't about to argue. He slammed the door on us. I had a key but I decided I'd better not use it."

Marggraff said the men must have been "ring crazy. That's what they took the most of."

He said the exact amount of the loss had not been determined but added it was covered by insurance.

'The Love Book' Police Profits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A police retirement association will be given one per cent of sales profit of "The Love Book," a volume of poetry which has been ruled obscene by a municipal court jury.

Publisher Jeff Berner told a news conference yesterday the donation was "my way of saying thank you to the police," for making the book famous.

Berner said only 60 copies of the book were sold before police picked up volumes and arrested three salesmen in two Haight-Ashbury district book stores last November.

"But after San Francisco police took a prurient interest in it, the sales sailed up to 20,000 copies," he said.

When the earthquake of 1931 hit Napier, New Zealand, the St. John Cathedral collapsed, burying the congregation.

Hit-And-Run Auto Sought

Corte Madera police today sought the driver of a blue convertible that hit a pedestrian at 7:30 p.m. yesterday and left him lying at the corner of Upland Road and Paradise Drive.

Christian La Levee, 29, of San Francisco, told police that he was walking west on the north side of Upland when the car hit him. He said it was a blue convertible with the top down. The driver was a male, possibly a juvenile, with short brown hair.

La Levee was treated at Marin General Hospital for scrapes and bruises of the left side, then transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital in San Francisco, where he was reported in satisfactory condition today.

ACLU Protests Banning Boy With Long Hair From Dance

An American Civil Liberties Union attorney is protesting the banning of a long-haired San Anselmo youth from a dance at Isabel Cook School.

Theodore Lachelt, representing the youth's mother, said he would write "all parties concerned," including the San Anselmo School District Board, that the banning "didn't seem to be appropriate."

The incident occurred when Mark Bachelder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Bachelder, of 70 Allyn Avenue, a seventh grade student at Red Hill School, was prevented from attending a dance sponsored by the Red Hill School Parents Club.

Lachelt contended that a student cannot be barred from a school social function because of the length of his hair. "Its apparently contrary to law and the best interest of the child," he declared.

Donald Shaw, principal of Red Hill School, said he asked the boy at school on May 12 not to attend the dance because of his "nearly shoulder length" hair.

Mark went to the dance and two members of the Parents Club, Clayton Nelson and Joe B. Burcell, refused to admit him. Mark went in anyway and Purcell called San Anselmo police.

Police noted in their report that Mark's clothes were neat and clean and of the same type worn by other students.

Mrs. Bachelder, a club member, was at the dance. She and Purcell and Nelson and police discussed the situation for about half an hour. Eventually Mark agreed to leave voluntarily with the understanding that the matter would be taken up with the school board, if at all.

"How are children going to learn to be tolerant if everything about them is the same?" Mrs. Bachelder asked. "How are they going to learn to make choices?"

Shaw said the main issue is whether the parents, as sponsors of the dance, have the right to make regulations, and he feels they do. He said he has received many telephone calls from parents, and most agree with the club's position, but some agree with the Bachelders.

Lachelt contends that it was a school function and not a private social function, and as such, Mark should not have been banned.

Carnival Fund

Tamalpais High School students netted $343 Saturday in an all-day carnival to raise money for a student-operated FM radio station, the peace corps school-to-school program and to continue the "breakthrough" project. Approximately 250 persons attended the "Spring Thing" carnival, reported Edward J. Chavez, student activities counselor.

Stray Hound-Dog Not So Grateful

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Robert Krun, who manages a motel with her husband, took in a dirty, bedraggled hound dog who came to the motel seeking shelter. But he didn't seem to appreciate it.

Mrs. Krun said the hound, who had been cleaned and fed, sat idly by and watched a thief rifle the motel cash register of about $350 and flee on a motorcycle.

"He was just a happy-go-lucky hound," she said about the dog. "Instead of chasing after him, he just sat there. He's a big deal."

and Roger Mc Cluskey 10th.

Jones, driving the first turbine car ever to start the race, came out of the sixth starting position to take the lead on the first lap.

Thereafter, he was pulling away until he got the red flag while he was crossing the starting line. He promptly eased up on his power and next time around brought his car to a halt five yards past the finish line and turned his turbine off.

The rest of the field pulled up behind him, stopping on the race track, and pit crew workers leaped the walls to cover up cockpits and put plastic or rubber blankets over the machines.

Scientists Say Sponges Help Purify Water

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Sponges that eat the bacteria in polluted water have been found by scientists at the Republic Aviation Division of Fairchild Hiller.

The sponges, they report, are found along the East Coast from Cape Cod to Cape Hatteras. In a laboratory test, the sponges demonstrated their ability to kill more than 30 times the number of bacteria that would normally die in seawater.

Seawater itself has the ability to kill the bacteria, Escherichia coli, which are often used as an indicator of fecal pollution in water, according to Peter Madri, a Republic microbiologist.

The sponges filter the seawater they live in to collect organisms that are their food, he explained. Since they grow naturally in the sea, they would require no care if planted by man as a pollution abatement measure.

The redbeard sponges, known technically as Microcionia prolifera, might be planted near shellfish beds to keep the waters clean, Madri suggested.

In a test, sponges were placed in one of two tanks filled with sterile seawater. Then, known amounts of the bacteria were added to each tank.

On the sixth day, water in the control tank contained about one million bacteria per cubic centimeter. In the other tank, all but 5,000 organisms per cubic centimeter had been eaten by the sponges.

National Road Toll Climbing

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic deaths during the nation's extended Memorial Day weekend swelled today above the most recent four-day observance of the holiday and appeared headed toward the preholiday estimate of 650 to 700.

The latest figures showed 483 persons had been killed in traffic accidents since 6 p.m. local time Friday. The tally for the four-day holiday period ends at midnight tonight.

Other deaths included 121 by drowning; 27 in plane crashes and 93 in miscellaneous accidents.

Russia Begins Month Of Big Rocket Tests

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today opened a month of missile tests which will send huge space rockets thundering 6,000 miles to a Pacific Ocean splashdown.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the tests will last from today to June 30 and warned all foreign planes and ships to keep out of the area—for safety's sake—from noon to midnight each day.

Tass pinpointed the bullseye at zero degrees, three minutes south latitude and 163 degrees, 50 minutes west longitude—a south Pacific area about 100 miles from the American-owned Jarvis Island.

(In Papeete, Tahiti, the countdown was believed to be under way for the June 1 resumption of French nuclear testing at Muroa atoll, 800 miles to the southeast. French authorities warned all shipping and aircraft to stay 100 miles clear of Muro from June 1 until July 14.)

The official Soviet announcement said the tests will perfect new and bigger rockets to "further explore outer space."

The recent Soyuz 1 spaceship, which cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov rode to his death, was reported to be the biggest manned space vehicle ever launched.

When the investigation into Komarov's death ends, the Soviets are expected to launch other Soyuz spacecraft — and some even bigger.

The Pacific tests were believed aimed at making sure the Soviet Union has the carrier rockets for this job, as well as for future probes to the moon and the planets.

No mention was made of the military implications of the new test series. But the Seismological Institute in Uppsala, Sweden, reported Saturday that it had detected an underground nuclear explosion in the Soviet Ural mountains.

The Soviets have carried out an average of two Pacific test series per year for the past three years.

How About Red Ant Eggs?

MANILA (UPI) —Filipinos in Natividad, town north of Manila, have discovered a new treat for gourmets: eggs of big red ants. A Philippine News Service correspondent who has sampled the delicacy reports "the taste is undescribably delicious."

His suggested recipe: "Just place them in a pot, put some sliced tomatoes, pour a little lard, sprinkle enough salt, according to your taste, and presto! You are very near to a hearty meal. Cover the pot, cook until the eggs are dry enough."

Natividad residents say the ants' usually build nests of balled green leaves in tall trees and getting the eggs naturally involve some hazards —including ant bites.

State Pacing Road Deaths

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California, as usual, led the nation today in traffic fatalities during the four-day holiday weekend.

California athorities reported 44 highway deaths. The state's tallies were running about 10 ahead of New York. Other states with high totals were Michigan and Texas.

Masses of people sought recreation at beaches, and 11 persons drowned.

The United States and Britain urged the U.N. Security Council to ask all sides in the mounting dispute to shun belligerence and stressed their belief that the Egyptian blockade was a belligerent act.

Al Ahram did not identify the tanker which it said was of American ownership and Liberian registry. It said it was intercepted by an Egyptian torpedo boat patrol as it approached from the Red Sea.

A single warning shell was fired and the vessel altered course, steaming back into the Red Sea, it was reported.

The State Department said to the best of its knowledge there are no tankers of U.S. ownership and Liberian registry in the area. It added that "there are no ships of U.S. registry in that vicinity."

It was the first report of a merchant vessel being turned back since Nasser on May 22 proclaimed a blockade of the Strait of Tiran, the entrance to the gulf and Israel's only direct access to the Red Sea and the Indian Ocean.

In New York, Security Council debate on the Middle East crisis today careened closer to a diplomatic blowup between the Soviet Union and the United States than a military explosion between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

The council adjourned last night after four hours highlighted by acid exchanges between U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and Soviet Ambassador Nicholai T. Fedorenko. It agreed to meet again at 3 p.m. EDT today.

Most Of State Cool On Holiday

SAN FANCISCO (AP) — It was cool for Memorial Day over most of California today.

And it will be cooler Wednesday, the weatherman said.

An unseasonable storm moving out of the Pacific Northwest toward Nevada will also bring "rather strong" winds, the Weather Bureau added, sweeping the coast, Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys and the mountains.

More low cloudiness along the coast with some drizzle in the south also was predicted.

Coins Taken

Twenty dollars in coins were stolen Sunday from a soft drink machine at a service station at 49 Medway Road, San Rafael police reported today. Station operator Robert M. Fibish said the thief used a key to open the machine.

Six Persons Die In Gun Store Blaze

SHAMOKNI DAM, Pa. (UPI) —Six persons were killed and two were injured critically yesterday when fire and exploding ammunition leveled a sporting goods store which specialized in custom made shotgun shells.

The dead were identified as Donald Haines, owner of the Shooter's Paradise store, two employees, Jack Lahr of Trevorton and Wendell Herb of Sunbury; and Joseph Dicinque of Royersford, his 5-year-old son, Anthony, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Evelyn Gusky of Shamokin.

George P. Mioff, 24, and William K. James, 24, both of Harrisburg, Pa., were admitted to Sunbury Community Hospital in critical condition. Another store employee, Barry Tschapp, 19, of RD1 Dornsife, was discharged from the hospital after treatment for shock.

The store was destroyed and firemen searched through the ruins for more than six hours before determining that there were no other victims.

State police said the holocaust was touched off by two test shot fired by Haines from a .45 caliber pistol. The shots were followed by a flash, an expolsion and then the fire.

Mrs. Gusky ran from the building and Mioff and James crashed through the plate glass window, all three with their clothing in flames.

Before anyone else emerged there was a series of small arms detonations and then a ground-shaking blast leveled the two story, cinder block building.

Tension Linked To Hair Beauty

WAYNE, N.J. (UPI) — Tension —nervousness and anxiety —can rob hair of its natural beauty, according to a manufacturer of hair care products.

Hair itself does not contain nerves, but a network of nerves surrounds the openings, or follicles, from which hair grows, say researchers at John H. Breck, Inc. When a person is tense, these nerves contract and cut off the blood supply nourishing the hair roots. As a result, hair often will be limp and lack luster and body.

Expo Pavilion Gutted By Fire

MONTREAL (UPI)—A three-alarm fire gutted the interior of the Nationalist China pavilion at Expo '67 today.

Fire department officials, who estimated damages at about $350,000, were investigating the cause of the fire, but an expo spokesman said they "don't suspect anything sinister about it."

BOURNEMOUTH, ENGLAND (UPI) —A parody of the 23rd Psalm which begins "The union is my shepherd. I shall not work" has a Church of England minister in hot water with trade unionists.

Rev. Alan Harrison said he printed the poem in a magazine as a joke. "Rubbish," said union official Ron Chapman. "It's hypocritical and stupid." He said he would ask the sponsors of the magazine, the National Association of Lord Government Officers, to publish an apology.

Rain Controls Over Nation In The Future

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Rainfall over the entire United States may be at least patrially under man's control by 1985.

By 1972, Interior Department scientists hope to be able to contribure up to 1.5 million acre-feet of water a year to the Colorado River by tapping atmospheric water resources.

"Tapping of the rivers of the sky is no longer in the realm of fantasy," according to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, "but is distinctly possible."

His department, he told the Senat Subcommittee on Water and Power, has been looking into the possibilities of weather modification since 1961 with a view to supplementing and conserving the nations's water resources.

Now, he reported, it seems possible that a 10 to 20 per cent increase in precipitation can be induced artificially over areas as large as 1,000 square miles.

While the first applications of such a capability would be in the water-starved Colorado River Basin, Udall said, ". . .the country's need for increased and dependable supplies of usable water is in no sense confined to the arid West."

"We have only to remember the plight of the drought-stricken East in 1965 to realize that," the Secretary observed.

Essentially, such weather modification efforts would use presently - known cloud - seeding materials such as silver iodide or dry ice. But newly developed methods of distributing them in clouds would be employed.

These methods include silver iodide bombs developed by the Naval Ordance Test Station, Pasadena, that would go off inside a cloud after being dropped from an airplane and remote-controlled silver iodide generators spotted ovet the area where more rain is desired.

Secretary Udall urged the subcommittee to support the entire $5 million budget request for the Interior Department weather modification program in fiscal year 1968 and broadly hinted that considerably more money would help bring the benefits of weather control to the nation as soon as possible.

MINISKIRTED JUDGE

Publicity Is Not Becoming To Bench

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Municipal Judge Noel Cannon who has worn a miniskirt, appeared on a national televised panel show and demonstrated weapons a woman could use in self-defense, was censured yesterday by a majority of her colleagues because of the "personal publicity" she has received.

The attractive, 40-year-old blonde-haired jurist said she learned of the censure when another judge called her "to apologize for signing something."

More than three-fourths of the 52 Municipal Court judges signed a critical resolution, which was to be forwarded to the California Judicial Qualifications Committee and San Bernardino Superior Judge James E. Cunningham, president of the Conference of California Judges.

A spokesman for the judges said the body felt that in seeking personal publicity, Judge Cannon tended to undermine public confidence in the court.

Judge Cannon, who was appointed to the bench four years ago by then Gov. Edmund G. Brown, called a press conference recently in which she demonstrated weapons women might use in thwart a male attacker.

Attired in a miniskirt in her pink, Louis XIV judicial chambers, Judge Cannon displayed hatpins, fluid-squirting guns, and a small derringer she said was effective against molesters.

The judge would not comment on the censure, but said she intends "to speak out on public matters. It is a judge's right and duty to speak out on matters of concern to the public. I feel a judge should be a leader in the community."

Judge Cannon also said she had been doing her work "properly," adding, "I have a heavy work load and I carry a long calendar of cases. I have been commended for my work."

She once appeared on the CBS-TV show, "To Tell the Truth," and was not identified by the panel from among three women who claimed to be she.

At least 22 tropical storms since 1871 have lasted longer than two weeks. Six lasted 20 days or more.

'Junior' Hell's Angels Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police last night arrested 17 youths between 18 and 20 years old who wore black leather jackets and boots, rode motorcycles and called themselves the Junior Hell's Angels.

All were taken into custody in the Haight-Ashbury District, but police said they were not hippies. The hippies just stood around and watched, officers said.

The Junior Hell's Angels were arrested in three incidents for stalling buses by pulling trolley wires, throwing bottles into the street, ripping out a parking meter and resisting arrest.

Youngster Breaks Leg; Hit By Car

Four-year-old Michelle Eberhart of 228 Sausalito Street, Corte Madera, was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a broken left leg suffered when she was struck by a car in San Rafael Sunday night.

Police said the girl was hit at 9 p.m. by a car driven by Thomas E. Wunder, 19, of 107 H Street, San Rafael, in a drive-in parking lot at 1908 Fourth Street. Wunder said the girl ran in front of his car.

FIRE TURNS OLD BARN TO RUBBLE

County firemen pour water on smouldering pile of hay, all that remains of old barn belonging to Paul Schmidt at 257 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, which went up in flames last night. The fire, reported at 9 p.m., also destroyed a pick-up truck inside the barn. Firemen arrived in time to douse flames that had spread to the roof of a nearby shed. Schmidt said the hay was old; there has been no livestock on the property for years. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Library Fees

A suggestion by Mill Valley City Council that the library double service charges from 5 to 10 cents for overdue books and rental of records and books will be considered by trustees at 8 p.m. Thursday in the library gallery. The increase would help finance an additional librarian, the council said.

Two Go To Juvenile Hall In Attempted Wallet Theft

Two youths who attempted a ruse yesterday morning to steal a housewife's wallet wound up in juvenile hall on burglary charges.

One boy, 14, knocked at the rear door of the apartment of Mrs. Doris I. Lockabey at 1028-F Los Gamos Road, San Rafael, and asked if her son was at home, police reported. Mrs. Lockabey's purse was near the door.

Just then the front doorbell rang. Mrs. Lockabey answered it to find a 15-year-old boy, who also asked for her son. When she returned to the rear door a moment later, she found her purse open, her wallet missing. The 14-year-old was running down the sidewalk.

When she shouted at the boy he dropped the wallet and kept running, police said.

Police picked up the two a few minutes later and booked them at juvenile hall.

Hungry Burglars Strike At School

What Next: Exercise Breaks Over Coffee

BURBANK (AP)—What's better than a coffee break?

"Exercise," say representatives of workers at the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation's Burbank plant.

Officials of International Association of Machinists, Lodge 727, AFL-CIO, say they will press for a 30-minute exercise break each morning.

Lodge President Thomas McNett said yesterday the issue will come up at a national meeting of the union tomorrow in Houston, Tex., and again before bargaining talks next year with the aerospace industry.

Lockheed officials would not comment on the proposal.

McNett said his local is reluctant to suggest that the exercise break be mandatory for all workers but he said a change is needed in the present routine of two 10-minute breaks devoted to drinking coffee, smoking cigarettes and munching candy bars.

Lodge 727 will also seek regular physical exams for workers. McNett said corporation executives are told by their doctors to get regular checkups and exercise regularly.

"We are just going to tell the companies that workers get the same advice from their doctors, and we want to take the advice seriously, too," he said.

The lodge president said doctors told union officials exercise is the best preventive known for many types of heart disease, tension, overweight and strokes.

"So, if we can prevent some of that, and save the company money in the long run, it is certainly worth considering," said McNett.

Driver Fair After Surgery For Injuries

Beatrice Vidal Pino, 46, of 10 Sonoma Street, San Rafael, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after surgery this morning for internal injuries suffered in a traffic accident yesterday afternoon.

Police said Mrs. Pino's car hit the rear of one driven by Sheelah Ann Wolfe, 17, of 131 Peacock Drive, San Rafael, when Miss Wolfe stopped for a pedestrian at Fifth Avenue and Nye Street.

The Wolfe car rolled forward and hit the pedestrian, Margaret M. Marks, 73, of 217 Laurel Place, San Rafael, who suffered minor injuries and was to see her own doctor.

Mrs. Pino believed her injuries were minor after the accident at 4:05 p.m. ,but felt worse later and went to the hospital at 9:18 p.m.

Meeting Is Off

The June meeting of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, scheduled for Thursday in Berkeley, has been canceled because of the death of State Sen. Eugene McAteer.

Radiation Probe Fails In Orbit Try

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A radiation study satellite representing 10 European nations failed to orbit after being launched last night.

The 163-pound ESRO II—European Space Research Organization—satellite was mounted atop a solid fuel Scout rocket whose fourth stage failed to ignite.

The malfunction was confirmed when stations in Madagascar and Fairbanks, Alaska reported no radar signals.

The satellite was the first launched on the base's western test range for the European combine of Belgium, Denmark, France, the Federal Republic of Germany, Italy, The Netherlands, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the United Kingdom.

The $3.6 million satellite was to conduct seven experiments in cosmic and solar radiation while in its polar orbit. The cost to the United States, including the launch rocket, was $1.5 million.

Citations In Scouting Announced

Five Scouting organizations won "presidential citations" Saturday for best presentations at the annual Scout-O-Rama.

Explorer Post 24 was cited for its booth showing work for the printing merit badge, an offset press printing poster. Post 24 is sponsored by Corte Madera Lions Club.

Boy Scout Troop 59, sponsored by Greenbrae Property Owners Association, won a citation for its model patrol camp site, and Troop 34, sponsored by Mill Valley Optimists Club, was cited for its booth showing conservation merit badge work.

Cub Scout Pack 64 won for its fun booth, a box hockey game. Pack 64 is sponsored by Lucas Valley Homeowners Association.

Pack 49, sponsored by Deer Park School Parent-Teacher Association, won for its scouting program display of clocks.

Special mention was awarded to Troop 46, sponsored by the Kentfield Association of Firemen, for its Ferris wheel, and Pack 66, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church of Santa Venetia, for its Indian village.

Nine Lectures On Music Planned

Music in the liturgy today will be the subject of nine lectures given during the summer session at Dominican College, San Rafael.

The lecturer will be Rev. Richard Wingell, member of the San Francisco Music Commission and an associate of the American Guild of Organists. They will be given in room 111, Angelico Hall, June 26 through July 14, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 1:30 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Novato Kindergarten Teacher Is Retiring

Mrs. Inez Walter, who has been teaching in Novato since it had only one school, will retire when she bids farewell to her kindergarten class at Olive School on June 15.

It will be the second time Mrs. Walter has left teaching. She taught in several California cities, including Taft and Stockton, after graduation from San Francisco State College. Then she left the glassroom to work in the Yerba Buena Child Care Center in San Francisco and in a children's shop in the same city.

Lured Her Back

But the call of the schoolroom lured her back. She visited the Marin County superintendent of schools office to inquire about teaching jobs in the county, and there met William J. J. Smith, who was just taking over as superintendent in Novato. He hired her.

That was 19 years ago. The Grant School at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue (now site of a commercial development) was Novato's only school. There were seven teachers instructing about 500 pupils on double sessions—including the first kindergarten in Novato. Mrs. Walter taught morning kindergarten session.

She remained at Grant School until 1953, when Olive School opened, and has taught the Olive School kindergarten ever since.

No Definite Plan

In her first kindergarten class was Jan Smith, daughter of the superintendent who had just taken over the district. Jan was married last summer. Smith left the Novato superintendency in 1962.

Mrs. Walters says she has no definite plan for retirement. "I'll just take things as they come for awhile," she said.

She confessed, however, to having thoughts about starting her own private pre-kindergarten school. The lure of the classroom remains strong.

TV Workshop Is Scheduled

A workshop to help teachers plan and produce programs for educational television will form part of the summer session schedule of courses at the Dominican College of San Rafael.

Arranged for July 17-23, the workshop will train students in script-writing, presentation and the technical aspects of producing a program.

The complete schedule, planned from June 26 to Aug. 4, will feature courses for undergraduates and graduates aiming for degrees and credentials.

Other courses include classes in religion, modern art, physical geography, school management, languages, music, philosophy and mathematics. Sister M. Richard is in charge of the program.

10-Day Foray Of Margay Ends In Mill Valley

A 10-day foray of an escaped Mill Valley margay ended Sunday when his hunger for a pet rabbit cost him his freedom.

Early Saturday, the margay (a spotted cat resembling an ocelot) killed a pet duck belonging to 9-year-old Deborah Warren of 21 Forrest Street, Mill Valley. He was chased away by Deborah's father, Eugene, before he could get around to her pet rabbit.

That night, however, the margay returned and hid in the Warrens' basement, apparently waiting for his appetite to return.

His snooze ended abruptly, however, when Deborah went down into the basement Sunday and found the wild cat sleeping in her doll bin.

In very short order, the margay was carted off by the County Humane Society. It was returned today to its owner, Mrs. Warick Thompkins, 50 Portola Lane.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

It's Refreshing To Hear Frank Talk From Bench

Several pronouncements from the Marin bench during the past few weeks have caused the public to sit up and take notice.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of juvenile court, taking a stern view of the alarming increase in narcotics use, declined to accept the cases of 10 hippies arrested in a marijuana raid, ruling that they are "not fit cases for juvenile court." The youths, aged 18 to 21, will thus be tried as adults.

The judge followed that up with a memorandum forbidding all wards of juvenile court from wearing unconventional hair styling, beards or bizarre clothing.

He pointed out that as long as a minor conforms to law and obeys his parents, matters of clothing and hair styling should certainly be left to the discretion of each family. But when a minor becomes a ward of court through infractions of law, then the court will lay down the rules of personal conduct until such minor learns to be law abiding.

A week earlier, Municipal Court Judge Alvin Goldstein Jr. told a meeting of driver education teachers that most students do not need cars to drive to school. He noted that student ownership and use of automobiles work at cross purposes with the teen-agers' prime responsibility—education.

Many judges have been reticent to take a public stand on controversial issues. They have expressed their personal views privately but have refrained from public expression.

Men like Judge Gardiner are putting into words and deeds what many citizens have long wanted to express.

Judge Gardiner was outspoken before he became a judge, and it is heartwarming to see that he continues to call them as he sees them from the bench.

He was controversial before and no doubt will be controversial in the future, but the state of the judiciary will be improved by having judges like him air their views, even at the risk of inviting controversy.

Whether you agree with the views of these outspoken judges, you've got to hand it to them for speaking out.

Orange And Honeysuckle

Two of Marin's sweetest and most potently perfumed flowers are blooming now and are particularly powerful in the evenings. We mean of course, orange blossoms and honeysuckle.

The latter is especially lovely because it grows wild and is almost a weed here, crawling over fences, yet spreads its lovely fragrance free of charge and care.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

ALARM SYSTEM THAT BRINGS OUT THE BEST

A new way of reporting fires has cut false alarms sharply in Wichita Falls, Tex.

Ninety-eight new alarm boxes use a telephone system. Over each box a caller must talk to an operator at a central switchboard.

The operator can ask the caller questions about the fire being reported.

A communication engineer for the fire department said that 95 per cent of the old alarms were false.

But, he added, "when people have to talk to you, they become a lot more hesitant of telling an untruth."

Man's inclination to truth can be sidetracked or even blocked by early training or unfavorable circumstances. But this divinely rooted tendency can be revived by those who care enough to do something.

Adhere to truth and justice in all your dealings and you may be God's instrument in opening the hearts of many to the deeper meaning of life in all its facets.

"To do righteousness and justice is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice."
(Proverbs 21:3)

Enable me to live up to my better nature, Father, and become a source of strength to others.

Business Slump, Declining Tax Income Plague Reagan's Budget

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Added state financing troubles have arisen to beleaguer the Reagan Administration, already hard put to make ends meet.

The latest department of finance estimate shows income will be short of previous estimates by about $97 to $100 million.

This is on top of the governor's budget for nearly $5 billion, which is before the state legislature.

Drop-off in revenue is seen in virtually all forms of state taxation, including income, sales, bank and corporation and inheritance taxes.

What this means is that the state either will have to find new revenues or cut spending to make up the deficit. It will no doubt end up as a combination of both.

THERE IS NO possibility at the present time of estimating what the entire situation means to the average, taxpaying citizen. The legislature, well into its fifth month of deliberations, has not as yet adopted either a budget or a revenue program.

From all indications, there will be no budget until the very end of June, which closes the current fiscal year.

AS TO the revenue program, the usual procedure is to adopt it after it has been determined what the budget will be, and assess taxes in the amount necessary to cover the proposed budget expenditures.

Usually, the revenue estimates by the State Department of Finance are reasonably accurate, but apparently the business slump was not wholly taken into consideration on the early estimates, so the figure falls short by nearly $100 million.

All kinds of reasons are given for the business slump. The reason least discussed, however, appears to be that money which should be circulating to ultimately produce more goods, is being siphoned off by government.

IN OTHER WORDS, a family might be on the verge of buying a new automobile. Comes the time for the down-payment, and the down-payment goes to Uncle Sam for advance payment of income taxes. Result, no new car, and depression of the economy. Multiply this one instance by hundreds of thousands, apply it to other purchases planned such as a new home, appliance or what have you, and it is relatively easy to understand the business slump.

IT IS ALSO reasonable to suppose that the situation will continue so long as government loads excessive taxes on the populace for the purpose of maintaining unnecessary services which are neither desirable nor wanted by the majority of citizens.

Is U.S. Employing Atom In Vietnam?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Is the U. S. already using nuclear weapons in the Vietnam war? According to an article in the S. F. Chronicle of March 24, "the Atomic Energy Commission has built a wide variety of nuclear weapons for the Defense Department and proposed others. . . . " It described a nuclear bomb which would be effective against underground fortifications by exploding "after burying itself in the ground by a secret technique. . . . "It reports that the blast "would shake the ground for miles around, collapsing nearby tunnels in the earth as well as structures above ground."

Another article in your Independent-Journal of April 13 complete with picture, says, "Military authorities disclosed that the big bombers hit Communist routes and camp areas yesterday with high explosive bombs capable of penetrating and ripping out huge craters in the enemy's underground hideaways."

Do Homework To Save Money

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your May 24 story: "Synagogue Approved by 3-2 Vote," gave the impression that the board of supervisors ignored protests of hundreds of Marinwood residents, the Marinwood Community Services District, and the Marinwood Association. Actually, Supervisors Storer, Behr and Kettenhofen demonstrated that Marin has a government of law, and not L.B.J. consensus and mob rule. As the first speaker in behalf of Congregation Kol Shofar, I cited the similar case of Community Synagogue vs. Bates (136 N.E. 2d) 11 years ago in Sands Point, a New York suburb with a 6 to 1 decision affirming the constitutional rights of churches, convents, religious schools, etc.

Supervisors Storer and Behr are members of the California bar. They and Mr. Kettenhofen saved Marin taxpayers thousands of dollars in litigation costs such as incurred by the City of Piedmont 12 years ago in opposing Corpus Christi parochial school. (Calif. 2d, 325). Before other Marin communities get involved in such matters, and waste time and money on petitions, meetings and bickering, I would suggest reading "Public Regulation Of The Religious Use of Land" in our Marin County Library.

James E. Curry, the author, autographed a copy for Pope Paul which I took to Rome in 1965. It is now in the Vatican Library, along with some of my legal writings. My "Notre Dame Lawyer," review of the book appeared in Nov. 2, 1965 "Congressional Record."

Brooke Idea Is Good One

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Today's editorial by Jack Craemer anent Sen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts being on the National GOP ticket makes a whole lot of good sense.

From the record, here is a fine gentleman, who improved himself in the old-fashioned American way, hard work and study, without looking for a "handout."

In addition to what he could give us as a public servant, it would cut into the rabble-rousing "Stokeley Carmichael's" rising at an alarming rate.

The GOP would do well to put him on their "major league" team.

Patrick Should Change Values

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A man carrying the magnificent name of William Penn Patrick certainly should advocate the great American democratic ideals.

But note this: —His "Support Our Servicemen Committee" has goals which could only lead to the imprisonment or extermination of all those American Communists, Socialists, Democrats, Republicans (and servicemen!) who don't agree with William Penn Patrick.

Of course, if we embrace Fascism it will be much easier to defeat Communism. A valid point, but who wins what?

And to all those who believe we are fighting to spread freedom and democracy in Asia, please remind Mr. Patrick that we must simultaneously demonstrate our faith in democracy right here.

Parking Time Vs. Shopper

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It would seem to me that if the merchants wish to encourage shopping in downtown San Rafael there would be something that could be done about the ticketing of cars when there is still time on the meter!!!!!!

I was parked on Court Street and received an overtime parking ticket because I came back and fed the meter into the second hour. At the time (in the a.m.) there were loads of empty parking places, so no one was driving around waiting for a place nor waiting for me to move.

When I have the children downtown I'd rather do anything than load them in and out of the car to move it from place to place . . . including going to Northgate or Corte Madera

Anyway, in the second hour I was parked before I found the overtime ticket with time still on the meter, I went into five separate stores and bought something in each one. But staying two hours in downtown San Rafael is not a mistake I'll make a second time!

BRITISH ACTRESS Carol Browne, one of the stars in "The Night of the Generals," was not pleased with review by a London critic who, though he approved of the film in general, had a few niggling reservations. JAMES MARLOW

Congress Continues To Drag Feet On Election Financing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A couple of years ago a Texas Democrat, Rep. James C. Wright, told Congress probably every member of it has knowingly evaded the purpose of a federal law limiting election campaign expenses.

The law, passed in 1925, says no candidate for the House can spend more than $5000 in his bid for election and no candidate for the Senate can spend more than $25,000.

But this limit applies only to spending by the candidates themselves. The law does not apply to committees set up to help them, and there is no limit on the number of such committees.

ALTHOUGH Wright made his statement two years ago, Congress was not sufficiently disturbed to do anything about it. The same ruumble of protest has been going on for years. Nothing was done.

Last year President Johnson sent a special message to Congress, urging a number of reforms not only because of the loopholes in present laws on financing political campaigns but because these laws are ludicrously out of date.

For example, the cost of the presidential campaign has more than doubled in the past decade. The cost of the 1964 campaign was more than 25 per cent higher than the one in 1960 and over 60 per cent higher than in 1956.

But Congress practically ignored what Johnson suggested in 1966 except for a law it passed allowing a taxpayer to tell the government to take $1 from his income tax return as a campaign contribution. Now this year Congress is about to kill it.

THEN THURSDAY Johnson sent a brand new message to Congress, proposing a number of reforms. But it's pretty late in the 1967 session and Congress will probably do nothing this time, either.

As an example of the emptiness of that law putting a limit of $5,000 on how much a candidate for the House can spend personally, take the 1966 House race in Cincinnati between Robert Taft Jr., a Republican, and Rep. John J. Gilligan, a one-term Democrat who lost his seat in that contest to Taft.

THE MONEY SPENT in Taft's behalf was almost $169,000 and for Gilligan it was at least $80,000. This was done through committees.

Wright said two years ago the high cost of campaigning is making it impossible for any but the wealthy — "or the willing wards of the wealthy" — to seek public office.

Campaigning has changed — and the costs, too—thanks to radio, television and the airplane. In one way the voters have benefited by the technological advances, since they are better able to see and hear the candidates.

BUT JOHNSON warned Thursday that in another way the changes "have worked to the opposite effect by increasing the costs of campaigning to spectacular proportions.

"Costs of such magnitude can have serious consequences for our democracy: more and more, men and women of limited means refrain from running for public office. Private wealth increasingly becomes an artificial and unrealistic arbiter of qualifications and the source of public leadership is thus severely narrowed."

For example the present law limits to $5,000 the contribution anyone can make to a single candidate for federal office — including the presidency — or contributions to any national committee supporting a candidate.

BUT THE LAW does not forbid an individual to make $5,000 contributions to any number of committees supporting a single candidate or party. And, again, there is no limit on the number of such committees.

In such a case Johnson suggests a $5,000 limit on the total amount that could come from any individual, his wife or minor children to a single candidate's campaign.

He also proposed — but this was only one of a number of proposals — to abolish the present arbitrary, and phony, limits on the total spending of a candidate for federal office.

CONGRESS, however, will probably sit on its hands, feel disturbed, and do nothing.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Romney, Reagan May Create Team

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — A Romney-Reagan ticket is actively in the making.

Close ties are in the process of being established between the Michigan and California governors and their political leaders. They confer frequently on strategy and plans, and exchange views and ideas.

Very much in the forefront of this significant backstage alliance is Leonard Hall, in charge of Romney's still-unavowed campaign for the 1968 presidential nomination. A veteran of such contests, Hall was Republican national chairman 1953-57, and managed Nixon's 1960 race.

From his headquarters in a suite of offices in downtown Washington, Hall is busily setting up a nation-wide network of Romney state organizations. At present he is concentrating on the West and Middle West.

CONSIDERABLE progress has been made in the latter. State managers have been designated in a number of Midwestern states, after carefully consulting GOP officials, state chairmen, national committeemen and other party leaders. The utmost caution is being exercised to avoid dissension.

Hall's master plan calls for vigorous Romney drives in key primaries throughout the country, starting with the first in New Hampshire on March 12.

The Michigan governor and Hall are fully aware this primary strategy involves serious risks. In New Hampshire, Republicans are bitterly splintered in factions. As a consequence, no Romney state manager has yet been selected.

ROMNEY AND his campaign director are ready and willing to chance the primary gamble in the confident belief Romney has the surging physical energy, unshakable determination and burning zeal to win.

As evidence, they cite his successful electioneering in the past against heavy odds and under trying conditions. Also his victory last week in prevailing on the Michigan state senate, after repeated setbacks, to approve a personal and corporate income tax.

It is their contention that Romney is a winner; that he has the instinct and will to win against any odds.

OTHER CRUCIAL presidential primaries definitely on Romney's list are — Wisconsin, April 2; West Virginia and Nebraska, May 14; Oregon, May 28; District of Columbia, date still unannounced.

The decision to run in the D.C. primary is significant because its population is predominantly Negro. Romney is convinced his Mormon religion will not be a handicap.

POLITICALS—Nevada's Gov. Paul Laxalt, who leans toward Nixon, is hinting he may become a favorite son candidate to block his state's delegation from Romney control. Nevada has a large Mormon population, strongly Republican inclined and overwhelmingly for the Michigan governor. . . . Postmaster Gen. Lawrence O'Brien is an original Kennedy man, but he and Vice President Humphrey have become close friends. They confer frequently on political and other matters. . . .

Active leadership of the 1.8 million-member Teamsters union is quietly being taken over by a triumvirate of powerful regional chiefs—"Bobby" Holmes, Detroit; Harold Gibbons, St. Louis, and Einar Mohn, San Francisco. Also taking a potent hand in this anti-Hoffa move are Murray (Dusty) Miller, Southern leader, and Joe Trerotola, N. Y. . . . William vanden Heuvel, New York attorney and close partisan of Sen. Robert Kennedy, is his principal liaison with militant civil rights activists. Vanden Heuvel has been a leading fund raiser for Dr. Martin Luther King. . . .

We Should Remember The Fighting Man Of Today This Memorial Day

Today is the day set aside for remembering the war dead in the United States. Officially it is called Memorial Day, but in many parts of the nation, it is still called by its original name, Decoration Day.

During the Civil War the people used to go out to the cemeteries on the last Sunday in May when the flowers were at their best, and decorate the graves of those who had died in the conflict. In a few short years this became a custom.

Gen. John A. Logan, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, proclaimed Memorial Day on May 30, 1868. It has remained on that date since.

TODAY THE UNITED STATES is engaged in a war. Although it is has not officially been proclaimed a war, by any standards of any time, it is a war. It could be called a police action. It could be called a skirmish to save the people of South Vietnam from being bombed in their villages and cities by the warmongers from the north. It could be called an action to halt the spread of communism in Asia. It could be called by many things, but by whatever name it is called, men are fighting and dying in a cause their government thinks is just. It includes many young men from Marin County in the fighting.

This war is not a popular war. No war ever is, especially to many of those who must do the fighting. This war is no exception. A look at history will show that other wars were the same.

THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR was not popular with a great many people. The original 13 colonies had just finished doing their part in fighting the French in Canada and the Indians which the French paid to raid the scattered settlements along the backwoods. Many were tired of war. Many more were tired of the taxes which England placed on the colonies to help pay for that war, and so the revolution was started.

When the revolution was successful, many of the residents of the colonies who had opposed it and supported England, fled to England. A whole section of Canada was settled by similar people.

PROBABLY THE MOST unpopular war in which the United States ever engaged was the Mexican War. It was called a war of aggression (which it was) by a large segment of the population. Doubtless had the country been as heavily populated then as now, there would have been many more demonstrations then than now.

The Civil War really was not wanted by many people on both sides, and never won the full support of the people. Witness the ease with which Southerners were able to go into the North and the Northerners were able to go through the South with the support of the people on each side.

There were the Spanish-American War, the two world wars, the Indian wars, and all of the many times when the armed forces of the United States were used in undeclared wars to maintain the people of the western hemisphere and other parts of the world. None of these actions had full support of all of the people.

SO IT IS TODAY. We are at war, a war which our government, elected by the majority of the people, has seen fit to engage in. Let not any opposition to the war detract from the sacrifices which are being made there.

Men from Marin County are fighting under as adverse conditions as in any war. Men are wounded every day. Others pay the supreme price of giving their lives for it.

Let not any opposition to the war detract from the sacrifices which these men from Marin County are making. Let this Memorial Day be one of not only remembering those that were killed, but also those who are still offering their lives for their country.

Theologian Leaving Post

Dr. Martin A. Schmidt, faculty member at San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo for nine years, has resigned to accept a professorship at the University of Basel in Switzerland.

Schmidt, a professor of historical theology, was a lecturer at Basel before coming to the United States in 1955. He also studied at the Swiss university and received his doctorate of theology there in 1948, with honors.

A native of Germany, Schmidt left Germany with his parents after Hitler took power. His father was a professor at Bonn University until the Hitler era, and later taught at Basel University.

Schmidt, his wife and their son Theodor will leave for Switzerland Saturday.

Ranch Annexing Is On Agenda

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission Thursday will consider several proposed annexations, the largest being the request to annex the Diaz Ranch to the Tamalpais Fire Protection District.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. at Civic Center.

Also on the agenda is the request of Charles M. Grandi of Northbay Associates for annexation of three acres at the north end of Oakmont Circle to the City of San Rafael.

Angel Island Tour Slated Saturday

A day-long tour to Angel Island will be sponsored Saturday by the San Francisco Fisherman's Wharf Association to celebrate the part the wharf has played in being a gateway to the island.

The boat will leave at 10 a. m. from Harbor Tours at Pier 41 from where tickets can be bought. A crab salad luncheon will be served on the island and the tour will return at 4 p. m.

Plans Withdrawn For Summer Camp

Marvin Silverman and Evelyn Citrin no longer plan a summer camp for 42 youngsters at a school they want to establish at 220 Wetmore Lane, Chileno Valley.

Silverman withdrew the camp project at the start of a hearing May 22 before the Marin County zoning administrator, and this fact was omitted from the Independent-Journal's report on the hearing. The school would operate 11 months for 12 youngsters.

MORRIE RYSKIND

New Pill Policy Simply Shows How Advanced Our Teeners Are

Recently I noted that an Eastern city was giving "the pill" to its high school lasses, and thus evoked a flock of letters. Some said failing to name the town indicated I had fabricated the item.

I usually throw my notes away afer I've done a piece — as it is, I have to walk sideways in my den — so I couldn't answer at once. But I've just spent a day digging up the original yarn, and here's the gist:

BIRTH CONTROL pills are given "sexually active" high school girls by Sinai Hospital in Baltimore, according to Dr. Matthew Tayback, deputy Health Commissioner. The program is aimed at the "extremely large number of pregnancies among girls 16 and under," says Dr. Tayback, and adds — I assume proudly — "it is the only program of its kind in the country." The pills are prescirbed after individual counseling and only with parental consent.

Now I don't say this solution to a difficult problem is wrong, and I am pleased that the parents have the final say. It shows the kids who's still boss around the house, and the experts agree that children feel loved only when their actions are approved by mama and papa.

But what of those parents whose Puritan ethics prevent their youngsters from enjoying childhood to the full? Will these underprivileged tots forever accept second-class citizenship? Ah, well, doubtless Dr. Tayback will think of something.

I KEEP READING and hearing about the New Morality and how wonderful it is. The race, say the savants, has finally come to fruition in this bumper crop of teen-aged geniuses presently adorning the scene. They are described as so brilliant that I can only wonder how we fuddy-duddies managed to spawn them.

Of course, there's historical precedent for precociousness: Athene sprang full-grown from the head of Zeus, to become almost at once goddess of counsel, of war and peace, lawgiver and patron of the arts.

And in our own time, Bettina Aptheker already overshadows her father and has — at least in Berkeley — even more followers.

But in both instances, the fathers themselves were famous, and it might be argued that Athene and Bettina simply inherited the genes of their illustrious sires. That would hardly account for the extraordinary number of current whiz kids, many of whom come from quite ordinary families.

MY OWN THEORY is that the various nuclear explosions have so altered our normal genetic system that children are now born with the accumulated wisdom of the ages, and need not go through the painful trial-and-error period that we did. They know it all now.

I heard one of these young geniuses — well, not so young, for he was all of 16 — expound his views on TV the other night. He thinks our society is a cartel of grasping business interests, distrusts the Warren Report, deems our Vietnam policy monstrous, regards our marriage system as provincial, would like to try LSD — and despises Ronald Reagan.

He was, I may add, warmly applauded by the audience, and even the emcee — Louis Lomax, no less — was palpably deelighted with the findings, especially the one about Reagan, whose election Mr. Lomax takes as a personal affront. It must be soul-satisfying indeed to have one's considered judgment backed by one's betters.

NOT ALL my evenings, alas, are that intellectual. The other night a friend who has nine children — and a movie projector — invited me over for a showing of Walt Disney's "Pinocchio."

It was a unique experience. The kids said, "Sir" to me, and they treated their parents not only with respect but with unmistakable fondness. And when the immortal Walt's film unrolled, it was rather wonderful to hear the gay laughter and screams of delight — from both generations.

A 'WAIL' OF A NAIL—BY ANY NAME

A construction project by 3-year-old James Engh of Prarie, Wis., goes predictably astray in this sequence as the young builder shows plenty of confidence, preparation, proper tools and concentration. Only one hitch: Jimmy found the right nail in a handful of nails, properly positioned it . . . but then hit his thumb. (AP Wirephoto)

Dentists Might Check Patients For Diabetes

SAN FRANCISCO (SS) — Dentists may routinely check their patients — not just for cavities or gum disease — for diabetes, if the plan of a Dan Francisco doctor if followed.

In a test study of 100 persons Dr. Herman Kaplan put a drop of blood from the patient on a cellulose measureing strip.

After 60 seconds he washed the blood away and measured the blood glucose count by the color changes on the strip.

Of 100 experimental patients, 10 had positive responses and seven had confirmed diabetes.

Dr. Kaplan reported his test method in the Journal of the American Dental Association. He says diabetic screening should be done regularly as part of research into the relation of diabetes and oral disease.

City Crew Wouldn't Evict Bird Family

MIAMI SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — When a city crew arrived to cut down a dead tree here, they found that woodpeckers were raising a family in a hole in one of the branches.

So before they removed the tree, they cut off the branch as gently as possible and tied it securely in a healthy tree nearby. The parent woodpeckers and baby birds were perfectly satisfied in the new location.

Bottle Making Better At Night

NEW YORK (UPI) —Bottle-making machines are night owls. The machines that make more than 30 billion bottles and jars a year in the United States run faster at night because it is cooler then, reports the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

GCMI explained that while glass in its rigid state is an exceptionally strong material, bottles at temperatures above 1,000 degrees F. collapse of their own weight. The molten glass from which bottles are formed is 2,000 degrees or more.

Bottle-making machines, therefore, must be run at speeds that allow the newly formed containers to cool down at least to 1,000 degrees before they are ejected from their molds. That is why machine speeds can be stepped up in the cool of the night.

Land Mines Plague African Oil Crews

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (UPI) —Concealed land mines left from the great battles of 1942-43 in Egypt's western desert are adding to the problems of oil exploration crews.

Clearance teams of about 50 British and Egyptian Bedouin veterans of the El Alamein campaign are attached to each crew. In addition to uncovering mines, crews have found ammunition dumps with live bombs and other munitions, preserved in the dry desert climate.

Theft Of Tools

Vern Rasmussen of 605 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, reported the theft Friday of an $86 power saw and $200 in miscellaneous tools from his pickup truck in the driveway of his home, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Non-Carrying Fuel Copter Being Built

STANFORD (SS) — An experimental helicopter that can fly for days without carrying any fuel is baing built for the U.S. Air Force.

Power for the pilotless helicopter will be beamed up from the ground in the form of microwave radiation, which will be converted in the aircraft to electric power to run the rotors and operate the controls.

The none-foot helicopter is presently undergoing test stand flights, according to Raytheon Corp. enigneers who are developing it. It is envisioned as a hovering antenna for military and civilian communications.

The use of lightweight solid-state diodes in the aircraft's power receiving antenna and rectifier, which together weigh only two pounds while producing 1,000 watts of power, Raytheon engineers told a meeting of the International Microwave Power Institute here.

Further weight-saving comes from integrated circuits, which enable the use of a control system whose sensors and servo motors weigh less than two pounds.

A planned subway train with no physical contact with its electrical power source was also described at the meeting. The aircushin train would be driven along a tube by a propeller at speeds of up to 350 miles per hour, with power sent by microwave radiation eliminating the need for electrical contacts, according to researchers from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.

Belgium Having Drinking Problem

BRUSSELS (UPI) —The number of traffic accidents in which one of the persons involved was under the influence of alcohol rose from 2,688 in 1951 to 7,024 in 1965, according to figures recently released by the National Statistics Institute.

In the same period the number of persons sentenced for drunken driving jumped from 2,156 to 6,514. In addition to prison sentences varying with the seriousness of the accidents, the defendants were banned from driving for periods ranging from one month to life.

Educational TV Expansion Argued

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — "Don't let the technological tail wag the educational dog."

This, in capsule, is how Dr. James R. Killian Jr., the head of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, sees one of the thorniest issues now before Congress — how to go about greatly expanding and improving educational, or "public," radio and television.

One danger which Killian is alluding to is the mad scramble by commercial interests to cash in on a domestic communications satellite. They want to make the "domsat" a multi-purpose communications relay, of which educational TV would be a minor part.

There is a strong suspicion among educators that the demands of commercial broadcasting and other paying users of such a system would inevitably restrict the development of a nationwide educational network.

The Ford Foundation is particularly skeptical. It has proposed a strictly non-profit broadcast relay satellite that would serve both commercial and educational outlets on an equal footing. Ford's McGeorge Bundy has called the plan a "people's dividend, earned by the American nation from its enormous investment in space." He figures the system would earn $30 million a year and more from commercial broadcaster fees that could be funneled into educational TV.

Comsat Corp., and other advocates of a multi-purpose satellite, have called the Ford plan unrealistic financially and technically. They contend that a separate system for broadcasting would mean a needless, and costly, duplication of facilities.

What is at stake is some $50 million a year the three commercial TV networks are paying for the use of coaxial cables, owned chiefly by AT&T. The latter corporation argues that any specialized setup as advanced by Ford would violate the "common carrier concept" that savings from new communications technology should be "passed along to all users."

Recently, the National Broadcasting Co. produced a plan which supports the Ford Foundation 's idea for a separate broadcasting satellite. But NBC is in favor of a commercial outfit, like Comsat, running it.

Currently, a subcommittee headed by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R. I., is hacking through this jungle of conflicting points of view as it examines President Johnson's proposal to create a non-profit Corporation for Public Television. Johnson has requested $9 million to start the corporation, which, if created, would only study the economic advantages of using satellite relays — not make an immediate leap into space.

This more cautious attitude reflects the thinking of a Carnegie Commission study which MIT's Killian headed and is the basis of the administration's bill. Killian is more interested in the end result, what appears on the tube, than in the technical means to get it there.

"Public television programs should carry the best of knowledge and wisdom directly into the home," he says. "Great teachers should have opportunities to interpret the new math, the new physics, the new social sciences through home television . . . the unique opportunity is to bring those who seek to understand, those who understand deeply."

Killian's point may be well taken. But, as yet, no one understands how to do it.

VERSATILITY GOES hand in hand with original ideas in Mrs. Ronald Derbyshire's accessories classes. What could be more original than the ensemble worn by Mrs. Myron G. Bigler, right, of Hamilton Air Force Base, who made her entire outfit from a $3 black and gold Indian print bedspread? Mrs. James Nelson and Mrs. Derbyshire discuss how to make a tote bag.

NEED A MATCHING straw hat to go with a special outfit this evening? Joan Derbyshire instructs officers' wives at Hamilton Air Force Base how to make a hat in a few hours using glue rather than sewing the straw—at a total cost of about $4. Mrs. Charles Praul, left, wife of Colonel Praul, the base commander, and Mrs. Richard Cole see how it's done.

ADMIRING THE FINISHED products are Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Praul, wearing hats made in the class. Mrs. Praul has been sewing for many years and has also made her own hats, but took the class for the fun of it. The tote bag, in the foreground, a cardboard carton covered with blue cotton and a print, matches a skirt and blouse made by Mrs. Nelson. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

She Creates Own Accessories For Fun

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Women of North Marin are becoming more conscious of creating accessories for themselves and some of this must be credited to the enthusiasm of Mrs. Ronald Derbyshire, wife of Captain Derbyshire of Hamilton Air Force Base, who says "fashions are fun."

Joan Derbyshire has been interested in fashions since her school days and is also interested in helping others create stylish things for themselves.

This led to her starting an accessories class at her home at Hamilton. She is also conducting a class in the adult evening high school at Novato.

"I am not artistic," says Joan, "but I'm willing to try anything in fashions."

VERSATILITY SEEMS to be the order of the day in Joan's classes and old shoes are recovered to match a favorite dress or a tote bag is made from a cereal box.

Among those in Joan's classes have been the young bride of a lieutenant and also the base commander's wife.

Mrs. Charles Praul, wife of Colonel Praul, base commander at Hamilton, is an accomplished seamstress and has had courses in millinery. However, she is continuing to make hats and is now enjoying covering shoes to match her costumes.

Mrs. Richard Cole, a major's wife, also an accomplished seamstress, said she took the course, as she will be leaving Hamilton soon, and wanted to know how to make special accessories.

Mrs. Myron G. Bigler, wife of a major, bought an India print bedspread of black and gold print for $3 and made a casual dress, hat, tote bag and shoes, just for fun.

A young lieutenant's wife, Mrs. David Nelson, is new to the service as a recent bride. Watching her budget, she has been making casual clothes, with tote bags and thongs to match.

"DON'T THROW AWAY those thongs from last year" says Joan to her students. They can be covered with either cotton material matching a skirt to wear to a patio party or covered with satin to match a favorite lounging robe.

In making hats, Joan says the choice must be made whether the time involved or the cost of material is more economical. If one must pay $2.50 for each flower to cover a hat, it is more economical to take the time and make the flowers. However, for the little added trim for a costume that might cost 10 cents in the store it is more feasible to buy the item than spend the time making it.

THE STUDENTS LEARN the hard way, and sometimes the glue will discolor a light silk that they are using to cover the shoe. However, Joan has now found an all purpose cement that is now not discoloring the silk.

Among her many novel ideas is making silk evening bags with only a coat hanger, laminated material for the inside of the bag and covered with material to match or contrast with a costume. Another is the cereal box or any cardboard carton lined with plastic and covered with a material to match the costume—ideal for a beach bag.

Joan and her husband, the parents of two boys, David, eight and Glenn, six years of age are both from Alameda and attended school there. They lived in opposite corners of the same block and began their courtship following a double date. She attended the University of California for two years and was graduated from San Jose State College.

"I love to go places and I love the Air Force life," says the attractive, blonde.

WHAT ARE HER future plans in fashion? She will be teaching another class of accessories in the adult evening high school at Novato next fall.

THE TEA WILL mark the beginning of an eventful summer for Janetta, who will be graduated from San Domenico June 3. Mrs. Michael, Janetta, and her brother, Fletcher, leave June 17 for Europe, where Janetta will join 14 American debutantes on a special tour with a full social schedule in London, Paris and Vienna. They will attend the Trinity Ball at Oxford and the Ball of the Silver Rose in Vienna.

IN CELEBRATION of Lawrie Driscoll and Michael Watters birthday, their parents, the Lawrason Driscolls of Novato gave a party Saturday at their home. The event was held at the Supple home in Belvedere. Dr. Simmons was presented with a tape recorder by the 15 couples attending. Mrs. Simmons, who is a registered nurse, will accompany her husband and serve as a volunteer nurse in Kenya.

ADVICE IN SOLVING the problems of Sunny Hillside gardening was given to residents of Hillhaven in Tiburon Saturday. Mario Canoles, designer of the Marin Art and Garden Fair in July, and who designed the Japanese style garden of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Little in Hillhaven, spoke of shrubs and plants which are most suitable for the area. This private garden tour was limited to Hillhaven residents. It's a "show and tell tour," whereby nieghbors assist each other in developing their district, which offers rough terrain and difficult soil conditions. Begun last year, it appears destined to become an annual event. Gardens on the tour were those of Miss Faith Appleby, Messrs. and Mesdames E. G. Little, Harold Freeman, Thomas Nock and Harvey La Flamme. Refreshments were served in the La Flamme garden. Mrs. La Flamme was assisted by her daughter, Sue, and Bridget Coombs.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

When Teen Ager Gets Home Earlier He Wants To Bank Curfew Hours

DEAR HELEN:

I have a midnight curfew, except for dances and late movies or parties, where I have one-half hour to get home after they're over.

Okay, fine. But sometimes I get home earlier than my curfew. So why shouldn't I have a "curfew bank" where I can build up extra hours? Like if I'm home at 11:15 Friday night, I can stay out till 12:45 Saturday night, bombing around?

My parents don't buy this. How about you? — JUSTICE FOR ALL, 16

DEAR JFA:

Don't push your luck. Your parents are already applying those save hours on your special late dates. . . . And you should sign yourself, "Luck!" — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our teacher is a real mess. He butts in on everything, and talks when you're even trying to take a test, then fails you when you don't finish it. He tries to make everyone you like enemies by spreading tales. He's always calling our parents like a crybaby and exaggerating the things we do.

He is also an old grouch and tells the rottenest jokes. But the thing that gets me is he gave this girl I like a bad mark in citizenship — because we talked a little bit — and now her nother won't let her go steady.

This teacher has bugged me once too often. What can I do? — TEACHER HATER

DEAR T.H.:

Keep your head and hold your tongue a few more days and your troubles will be over until next September, when let's hope you get a better shake.

(But if you pull another "lemon" I'll figure you may be the sour one, not your teachers.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I sent a poem into a song publishing company and they say it's great. All they need is $50 to put it to music, and then I can sell it.

I'm not sure I should spend my last — my only — $50 this way because I'm not very good at peddling. Is this the best way to become rich as a song writer? —HOPEFUL BUT DOUBTFUL

DEAR H but D:

It's the best way to LOSE fifty bucks! And the poorest way to "become rich as a song writer." A good rule is: never pay to have your writing published — or put to music — unless you merely want the joy of seeing it in print. If it has merit, a publisher will pay YOU for it. If not, you'll never sell it big on your own. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 13 and have a problem: my parents. A few weeks ago I forgot my housekey and had to break down the door. Seems like a stupid thing to do, but it was raining and I had to do something fast.

Well, my father had a fit when he had to buy a new door.

A few days ago I forgot my key again so I took a screw driver and tried to open the lock. I ruined the lock, which will cost my Dad some more money. When my mother came home, she couldn't get her key in the lock, so she had me climb through a window, which pretty well ruined the window, too, as it had to be jimmied open.

Now I know I was wrong and I am willing to give up my camp money to pay the damages, but do you think I should be grounded? — KEY LOSER

DEAR K.L.:

Wouldn't a better idea be to "ground" an extra key in a safe hiding place under the porch? But if you're grounded, spend the time doing odd jobs around the house — and you may still earn you camp money. — H.

Cost Of Immortality Slashed For Marin

The cost of imortality in Marin has been slashed by 90 per cent. Back in 1888, the price of posterity was $100. Today, it is $10.

Ten dollars is all it will cost a Marin resident to have his photograph, 1,000-word autobiography and signature in a book planned by Marin County Historical Society.

The book would be part of a venture by the society to record the history of Marin—its events and its personalities—for posterity.

It will be published in two parts. Part I will be a series of articles many of which have already been in print. Part II will be the "Mug Book" containing the pictures and life stories at $10 a time.

"This small sum will defray the expenses of stenographic work and of getting the material into publishable shape," said Frank Galli of Novato, society president.

In February, Galli informed the county board of supervisors the society was hitting a snag in raising the necessary money for Marin's first official history since 1888.

Status seeking citizens in those days had to spend out $100 for similar notoriety in the "Mug Book."

Annual Picnic

The annual picnic for members of Marin Chapter 68 of the American Association of Retired persons will be Saturday noon in Albert Park, San Rafael. In the event of rain, the picnic will be held in the First Methodist Church in San Rafael.

Novato Lieutenant Wounded In War

Army First Lt. Chester A. Hibbert Jr. of Novato, who is in the Fourth Infantry Division in Vietnam, was wounded by mortar shell on May 22 near the Cambodian border, his parents have been informed.

He was evacuated to Tripler Army Hospital in Honolulu, where he will be for approximately three weeks before being returned to the mainland, said his father, Col. Chester A. Hibbert of 71 Lambert Way.

Roger Hillman Heads Chamber

Roger Hillman has been elected president of the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Phillip Erickson was elected internal vice president, and James Knight the external vice president. Donald Locke was elected treasurer, and Dale Davis, secretary. Jack Whitcom was names state director.

Elected as directors were John Hogue, John Stobba, James Schmitz and Neil Carlson.

Farm Worker Funeral March

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A strange sight early today as lighted candles cast an eerie glow over a black casket atop a Great Seal of California.

"The casket represents the living dead farm worker" explained the leader of an all-night vigil protesting the lot of the farm worker in California generally and the capital city area specifically.

The protestors marched in a mock funeral procession last night carrying the homemade casket a circular two miles through Sacramento streets, led by a police motorcycle escort.

Mrs. Stanley Leete of San Rafael was winner of two sections in Saturday's spring flower show at Bank of Marin. Her name was misspelled in yesterday's report of the show.

Redwood Empire Has Many Events In June

June festivities are busting out all over the Redwood Empire this year.

Events include the annual Ram Sale and Sheepdog Trials at Cloverdale on Saturday, the Redwood Empire Appaloosa Horse Show at the Petaluma Fairgrounds and the annual Kiwanis Rodeo at Fairfax on Sunday.

The Marin Ballet Aquacade plays at Peacock Gap Beach Club June 10-11. San Francisco's midsummer Sunday concerts in Stern Grove begin on the 11th. Native Sons of the Golden West celebrate Bear Flag Day in Sonoma Plaza on the 12th.

June 15-17 are dates for the Healdsburg Future Farmers' Fair. Middletown in Lake County stages its pioneer fiesta June 17-18, also the dates for the Sail Regatta and Redbud Days at Clearlake Highlands nearby.

Boonville in southern Mendocino County has reserved the 18th for Buckaroo Days. Historic St. Teresa's Church will hold its Father's Day Barbecue in Fern Grove near the former Russian settlement of Bodega in Sonoma County on June 18.

Novato goes frontier-happy at the 10th annual Western Weekend, starting the 18th and running through June 25. Parades, rodeos and allied events hold sway.

Tennis fans will enjoy the National Men's 35 Hardcourt Championships at Mill Valley June 21-25. Eureka presents the annual Redwood Acres Fair and Rodeo on those dates too.

The Golden Gate Arabian Horse Show is scheduled for the Santa Rosa fairgrounds June 23-25. The West Marin Junior Livestock Show and Parade takes over Point Reyes Station June 24-25.

And what is heralded as the largest convention of its type ever held in the West, the Wally Byam Caravan Clubs' 10th annual International Rally, will begin June 28 through July 5 at the old Navy Airfield, west of Santa Rosa.

Fogs have become less severe in London since 1956 as a result of changes in fuel usage and clean air legislation.

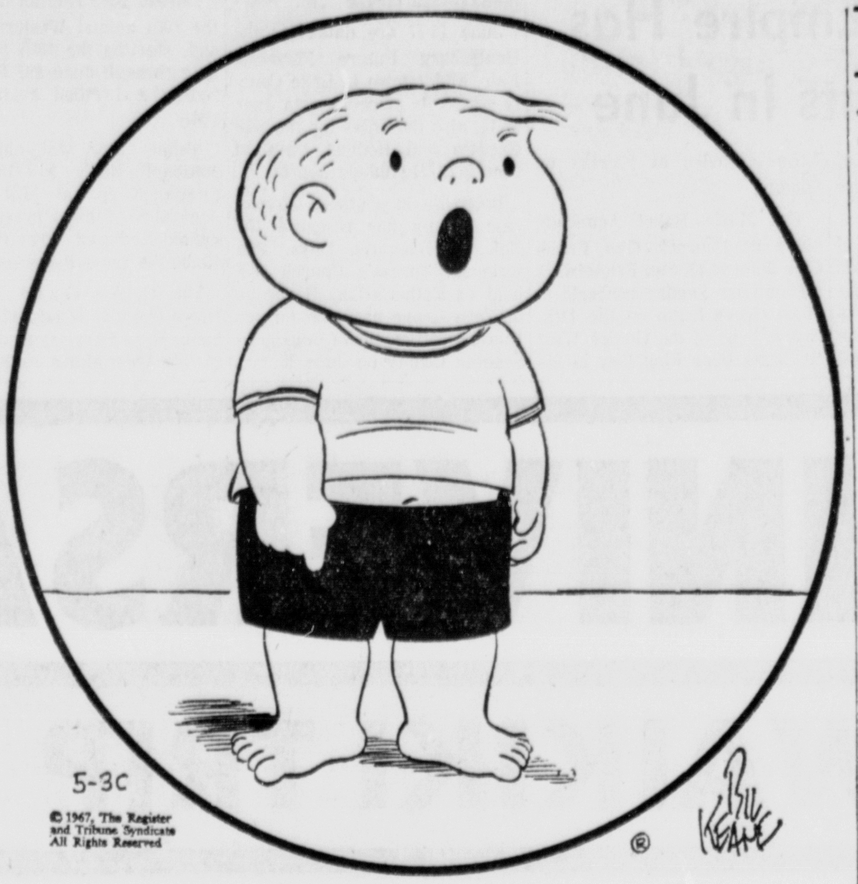
THE FAMILY CIRCUS



"Is it okay if I just wear my bare feet?"

ALMANAC

Today is Memorial Day, Tuesday, May 30, the 150th day of 1967 with 215 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Venus.

Actress Cornelia Otis Skinner was born on this day in 1901.

On this day in history:

In 1431, Joan of Arc, Maid of Orleans, was burned at the stake in Rouen, France, at the age of 19 after being found guilty of sorcery.

In 1883, a report that the Brooklyn Bridge was about to collapse caused a panic in which 12 persons were trampled to death.

In 1942, the British Royal Air Force made its first "thousand bomber" raid on the German city of Cologne.

In 1964, A. J. Foyt won the Indianapolis-500 race, in which drivers Eddie Sachs and Dave MacDonald were killed on the second lap.

A thought for the day — American essayist and poet Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote: "A friend is a person with whom I may be sincere . . . before him, I may think aloud."

Opening lead — ♡ J

West opened the jack of hearts, and South though deeply.

If the finesse worked, his slam would be home at once; but if it lost, he would also lose a club trick sooner or later.

South made the right decision by putting up dummy's ace of hearts.

Declarer next drew a round of trumps, cashed the top diamonds and entered dummy with a trump to ruff the jack of diamonds.

OTHER HEART

Now South led his other heart, giving the trick up to East's king.

At this point South's contract was home if he could only tell what was going on.

Since a heart or diamond return would allow dummy to ruff while South discarded a club, East was sure to return a club.

The club return would give declarer the rest of the tricks if the queen and pack of clubs were divided or if East held both of them.

TRUE ON PAPER

This was true on paper, but East was not made of paper.

East knew that in this position his only correct play was to return a club honor, regardless of whether he held one or both of the missing high clubs.

East knew also that the "book" lead was the queen of clubs; but he actually returned the jack of clubs.

It was quite naive of South to assume that East could not have the queen of clubs since he had led the jack.

Still, that is the way some declarers are, and a good defender reads his opponents as well as the books.

South won with the king of clubs and tried a finesse with dummy's ten, losing his slam.

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Dr. Joseph Koenigsmark discovered something to shock him and something to surpirse him when he arrived from Czechoslovakia to work with the Festival Theater in San Anselmo.

The 51-year-old Czech writer and stage director was shocked at the few municipal theaters in this country compared with central Europe. He was surprised at the immense freedom in what little theater there was.

He talked frankly about his feelings as he sat by the sunglistening lawn outside Festival Theater where he has been infusing his knowledge of cinefusion since late March under a grant of the San Francisco Foundation.

STAGE, SCREEN BLEND

Cinefusion is the blending of stage and screen presentation technique pioneered for the most part in Czechoslovakia.

Dr. Koenigsmark was invited here by his close friend and one-time collaborator Jiri Hermann, chairman of the Festival Theater Foundation, who had been thinking along the lines of a cinefusion production by the theater. But when he got here, the doctor was intrigued by the plot of a play the theater's Elizabeth Berryhill is preparing for summer production.

Since talking it over with her, Dr. Koenigsmark agreed it would be an ideal vehicle for cinefusion, a technique the theater group already flirted with three years ago in a Straw Hat Revue.

I NEVER INTRUDE

"I believe this new technique should serve and support the play only," he said. "It should never intrude upon it."

Thinking back to his first impressions of the United States, he said he was saddened by the lack of strong theater in every community.

In his home country, he explained, theater is encouraged and subsidized by the state in most cities and towns, no matter how small.

"These nationalized groups experiment and develop ideas and techniques. Inevitably, the larger theaters would take over the ideas and then the smaller theaters would go on to something new," he said.

As a result, progress would be more rapid than in courntries without the benefit of the "laboratory theater." In America, he felt theater was still promulgating ideas which had been rejected in Central Europe five years ago.

Among these ideas, the propaganda play — with anti-war, anti-bomb themes — is no longer acceptable in his country, according to Koenigsmark.

REFRESHING FREEDOM

"We know that war is bad and we know that the ultimate weapon is dangerous. There is no need to be told this," he said. "Is there any need to labor the point?"

He found most refreshing the freedom of expression in American theater. "With free opinion and free feeling, there is a great opportunity for true self-expression," he said.

In Czecholslovakia, writers and artists must still submit their work for approval before publication. This even applies to poster artists.

NO CRITICISM

"There must be no criticism of the government system or heads of states," he reported "Apart from that, you can write whatever you wish."

Dr. Koenigsmark once wrote a futuristic play about what would happein if pills were invented to replace food and industrial workers could no longer take extended coffee and lunch breaks.

"This was social comment and quite acceptable to the censors," he explained.

During World War II, Koenigsmark was captured by the Gestapo and sent to Terezin concentration camp, where he was tortured almost to death for his part in sabotage with a resistance movement.

Transferred to a camp in Dresden, he managed to escape with a group of friends in February, 1945, and, three months later, took part in the liberation of his country.

POPULAR PLAYWRIGHTS

He listed the American playwrights popular in Czechoslovakai and included Tennessee Williams and Arthur Miller. It was no coincidence that plays with a strong anti-establishment there such as "Death of a Salesman" were sold out months in advance, he said.

He has written and directed many revues and has directed 25 plays, including "Lemonade Joe," a satire on the American Western. This was later made into a film — already shown commercially in Marin County — with which Dr. Koeningsmark had no connection.

Since 1963, he has been chief dramaturgist and joint art director of the Czechosolovak Army Assemble in Prague. His wife, Alena, is a painter; his son, Alex, 22, a sculptor and painter, and his daughter, Helen, 19, is studying the history of art.

Musica, Organist To Repeat Program

Marin Pro Musica directed by Wilbur F. Russell and organist Ludwig Altman will perform the same program Sunday in San Francisco that was presented on May 21 at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anslemo.

The free public concert featuring the entire organ repertoire of Roger Sessions will be heard at 5 p.m. in the Steward Chapel of the Calvary Presbyterian Church.

FOR POOR DIGGER

$108,000 Diamond: Road To Capitalism

MASERU, Lesotho (UPI)—Petrose Ramaboea today luxuriated in the first suit he has ever worn — paid for from the proceeds of a golf ball-sized diamond his wife found.

The more than $108,000 he received from the sale yesterday made him one of the richest men in his fledgling country.

Experts said the brown-colored gem was one of the eight largest diamonds in the world at 601.3 carats.

The name of the buyer was kept secret. Among those known to have submitted unsuccessful bids were two representatives of South African Sir Harry Oppenheimer, head of the world's leading diamond mining company. The buyers submitted sealed bids at the bank where the diamond was kept under heavy guard.

Ramaboea said he walked 75 miles with the gem in his pocket after his wife found it three weeks ago while sifting gravel.

He now plans to buy a bulldozer to work the 30 by 30 foot claim 10,000 feet up the side of a Lesotho mountain. He will buy a better house for his wife and 19-year-old deaf and dumb daughter who now live in a one-room shack.

As a capitalist, Ramaboea quickly learned some hard facts of life: The government took 15 per cent of his proceeds away in taxes.

But he could only say, "God has been very kind to me."

Blonde Doesn't Fool The Police

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A blonde in a two-piece red capri outfit robbed a Hollywood bank of $1,900, crossed the street and a few minutes later walked out of a women's restroom as a brown-haired woman dressed in green, police said.

A blonde had held up a Bank of America branch yesterday after she told a teller she had a bottle of nitroglycerin in her purse.

Police said Gloria Lynn Swanson, 23, was arrested as she emerged from a restaurant restroom and booked on suspicion of robbery.

Editing Begins On Rival Scrolls

CLAREMONT (AP)—Ancient Egyptian religious documents that rival the importance of the Dead Sea scrolls will be published next year by a United Nations agency, a Claremont College professor says.

James R. Robinson, professor of religion at Claremont graduate school, said yesterday the manuscripts were kept out of the New Testament because the Christian church at the time considered them heretical.

Robinson, with a colleague, Dr. Ernest Tune, will translate the manuscripts into English under a $16,300 grant from the National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities.

County Police Area On Mayors' Agenda

The Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen tomorrow will discuss a county service area for police and probably have some harsh words for supervisors on the question of a transit manager for the county.

The meeting will begin with a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. at Cloud Five Restaurant in Novato.

Speaker will be Philip S. Erlich Jr., chairman of the Marin County Housing Authority, who will talk on the federal scattered housing program, where low rentals are developed through subsidy to landlords.

The county service area for the unincorporated portion of Marin was proposed by the Marin City-County Services Committee as a means of more fairly distributing the cost of the sheriff's department, taking some of the burden off city taxpayers.

Controversy over hiring of a transit district manager arose when the transit district board, earlier this month, refused to delay adoption of a job description and $18,000 to $21,000 salary for the position and authorized County Administrator Alan Bruce to seek candidates for the job. The council of mayors and councilmen had asked delay until after tomorrow's meeting.

United Cerebral Palsy of Marin Inc. has John R. Maurer as its president.

Pat Cucaro To Show Paintings At Gallery

Sausalito artist Pat Cucaro will have paintings on show at the Cory Gallery, 335 Stockton Street, San Francisco daily from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., opening Thursday.

Works by the artist are also on display at the Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, 420 Montgomery Street.

Proposed Corte Madera Operating Budget Up, But Tax Rate Lower

Corte Madera is slated to have a higher budget for fiscal 1968, but a lower town tax rate.

Town councilmen last night reviewed a proposed $788,666 budget, about 4 per cent higher than the current budget, but expected to carry a 4-cent cut in the tax rate.

Town Mge. Ronald L. Usher said because of a boost in assessed valuation the proposed budget could be financed with a rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation. Usher estimated the tax rate breakdown as: general fund .39, park fund .15, retirement .15, retirement of 1951 bonds .03, retirement of 1965 bonds .05 and land acquisition .23.

Two major projects in the budget are connecting Tamalpais Drive to Paradise Drive, east of Highway 101, at $125,000, and acquiring a site for a corporation yard at $67,377.

The budget includes a 5 per cent pay hike for town employees, previously approved by the council.

No additional position was recommended, but the council approved the classification of a lieutenant in the fire department, who would act as assistant chief.

The council granted Usher a 7.5 per cent pay boost to $15,672 per year after briefly considering a 5 per cent raise and then a 2.5 per cent raise on the "anniversary date" of his employment. After Mayor Edward W. Colthurst noted that Usher's "anniversary date" was July 19, the council agreed to grant all at one time.

BUDGET FUNDING

Usher noted that only 27 per cent of the budget would be financed by property tax, and Councilman Charles F. Pendleton remarked "the bulk of the revenue is from sales tax."

The police department budget, totaling $128,819, includes replacement of two patrol units at a cost of $5,000. Chief Frank L. Nelson recommended a portable radar unit at $1,450 and councilmen said they would give it consideration before the final budget is adopted.

The chief also asked the council to boost the uniform allowance of $75 a year, but the council held firm at that figure.

The budget also provides 2.5 per cent pay boost for police officers who complete six semester units of college level study in courses related to their work. Usher said an officer would have to continue his study to retain the pay boost.

Police and firemen are eligible for the 2.5 per cent pay boost when they earn an associate of arts degree, but the new provisions would permit police officers to qualify after earning the first six semester units of credit.

FIRE OUTLAY

The fire department budget, totaling $25,538, includes $1,835 for equipment, but not a high pressure unit and a pick-up truck recommended by Chief Nelson.

The council agreed to re-activate is committee to study fire service. Chief Nelson said the town has a good water supply and pumping capacity. "The only stumbling block is manpower," he said.

The public works budget, totaling $415,697 includes the Tamalpais Drive-Paradise Drive connection, reconstruction of Grove Avenue at $21,500, and acquisition of the corporation yard site.

BEAUTIFICATION

Land improvement and beautification projects include improvements to the town park as follows: access roads and walks, $1,250, west parking lot, $17,255, two picnic areas, $900, and a tiny tot area, $1,500. It also includes $2,000 for Village Square landscaping and Paradise Drive irrigation, $3,000.

Councilman William W. Collier contended that "the big problem is flood control," and he wanted to know what was going to be done in the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Usher noted that funds were recommended for flood control work at the lagoon during 1968-69. He said the studies and design preparation would be accomplished during the coming year.

FLOOD PROJECT

Pendleton said the Corte Madera Creek flood control project would have a bearing on the town's project.

Councilmen agreed to review the funds in the budget for conferences, after it was noted that those categories total $4,650 including meetings attended by councilmen.

Councilmen added $1,500 to the recreation budget, consisting of up to $1,000 for an acoustical survey at the town park and up to $500 for miscellaneous expenses connected with performances at the park. The recreation budget now totals $6,100.

Usher said he would present the budget to the council again at one of its regular meetings next month.

Tax Official Surrenders

OAKLAND (UPI) — Tax consultant William O. Brothers surrendered to Alameda County authorities yesterday to face perjury and bribery charges stemming from the 1965 West Coast assessor scandal.

Brothers went before Superior Court Judge Redmond C. Staats, who set June 30 for arraignment and ordered Brothers freed on $55,000 bail.

Brothers had been at large since an Alameda County Grand Jury returned an indictment against him two months ago, charging 15 counts of perjury and bribery.

Vehicle Theft Case To Juvenile Court

Case of Kenneth Paul Botai, 18, charged with vehicle theft, was referred to Juvenile Court yesterday by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court.

Botai, of 103 Lansdale Avenue, San Anselmo, allegedly took a vehicle owned by Bob M. Silva in San Rafael last Friday.

Burglars Hit Marin School, Cafeteria At Civic Center

Gallinas School in Santa Venetia and the cafeteria of the Marin County Civic Center were entered by burglars during the weekend, the sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Nothing, apparently, was stolen from either place. A window was smashed and several offices were entered at the school. An empty drawer beneath a cash register was pried open in the Civic Center cafeteria, deputies reported.

James Sender of 60 Ryan Avenue, Mill Valley, reported to sheriff's deputies the theft of stereophonic tape player from the glove compartment of his unlocked car in front of 71 South Knoll Road, Strawberry, Saturday.

Christmas tree ornaments and a pile of records were broken in the garage of Ann Lee Holle on San Geronimo Valley Drive, San Geronimo, on Friday, deputies said.

Theft of a wrought iron table and chairs and a small keg of beer from the swimming pool area of the summer home of Elizabeth Merrill of San Francisco at 1680 Indian Valley Road, Novato, was also reported.

Sausalito Sets Hearing On Budget

Sausalito City Council is to hold its first hearing on a budget for fiscal 1968 Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

City Mgr. George M. Patterson said he did not expect to have a total budget ready for the first hearing, but that he probably would present it in departmental sections.

Students Get Scholarships

Scholarships were awarded to two College of Marin students at the college Memorial Day ceremony yesterday.

William Pandiani received the $100 Dick Signorelli Memorial Scholarship, and Jon Wilson received the $150 Stanley Hoy Memorial Scholarship. Daniel Olbrantz received the Signorelli Memorial Cup.

Yankees' Whitey Ford Announces Retirement

NEW YORK (AP)—Whitey Ford, the winningest New York Yankee of all time, retired today after a glittering 16-year pitching career.

Ford, who had undergone surgery twice within three years to clear up circulatory problems in his left shoulder, said he finally was giving up because of a bone spur that has developed in his left elbow.

The southpaw, who had the second operation last Aug. 25 after compiling a 2-5 record—the worst in his career—pitched 44 innings this season, winning two games and losing four.

Ford made the decision to retire after consulting with Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the Yankees' team physician; Manager Ralph Houk, and members of the Yankee front office.

Michael Burke, president of the Yankees, said Ford would remain in the New York organization, primarily as a scout.

Ford, 38, was born and raised in New York. He came to the Yankees mid-way in the 1950 season, posted a 9-1 record, won a game in the Yankees' 4-0 World Series sweep of Philadelphia then spent two years in military service.

When he returned, he forged one of the greatest pitching records in history. His 236 career victories is the best in Yankee history and his career 236-106 won-loss record represents one of the best percentage marks ever achieved in the majors.

Ford, clever and concise, pitched on 11 Yankee pennant winners and holds a flock of World Series records. Included are most victories 10, starts 22, and strikeouts 94.

One of his major accomplishments, and one that pleased Ford the most, was smashing Babe Ruth's World Series pitching record for consecu-consecutive scoreless innings.

He broke the record with consecutive shut-

JIM GILMARTIN

Novato Baseball Coach

Writes Us A Letter

I wonder how a Redwood High School block letter would look on my brand new herringbone sport coat?

I know, wise guy, I'm a little chubby and old to be sporting a high school athletic emblem, but I have earned it.

According to Bob Aune, baseball professor at Novato High School who coached his Hornets to a third place finish in the Marin Athletic League, "The I-J helped Redwood win its share of the league title by continually playing up its pitching. The hitters," Aune further told prep writer Gary Tischler, "were so anxious to hit them that they were too eager . . ."

Well, being sports editor of this here Monarch of Marin's dailies, I feel entitled to a Redwood block letter. As I plan to attend Redwood's sports banquet Thursday night, I expect a tremendous round of applause plus a red and gray "R" for my contribution to that school's athletic accomplishments.

In fact, I'm even going to get a haircut for the occasion.

Professor Aune, who apparently wants desperately to be heard, followed his statements to Tischler with a letter to me, majority of which follows:

"Mr. Gilmartin:

"In your column on Monday, May 25, 1967, you made the statement that ALL of the coaches in the Marin County Athletic League agree that Ken Johnson of Redwood is the 'class of the league.' There is certainly no doubt in my mind that Ken is a fine athlete, but with athletes like Frank Perachiotti and John Sjoblom (John didn't strike out once during the entire season) on the Novato team I cannot agree that he is the 'class of the league.'

Comparison With Other Athletes

"I called your office to discuss this statement and talked with Gary Tischler of your staff and told him that I did not like the idea of your making this statement without checking to see if it were true. I told him that I did not agree because there were many fine athletes in the league and I cited Frank and John as well as Mike Biber of Tam.

"The reason I called was not to take anything away from Ken Johnson, but to complain about your reporting techniques. I felt that you should have checked with 'all the coaches' before including all of them in this statement. In getting an answer to my complaint in Prep Notes by Gary Tischler on Thursday, May 25, I find another reporting error. I did not say that most of the coaches agreed with me as I would not speak for the other coaches. I simply made the statement that you should have checked with the other coaches before making the statement. Actually in giving me a little blast Tischler proved my point in his article as only four coaches agreed with the statement, not ALL of them.

Complaint With Reporting Techniques

"My main complaint is still in your reporting techniques. I feel that your main problem is that you sit around your office reading too many UP and AP releases trying to fill up your sports page rather than keeping up with the local sport picture. I don't think you have an idea of who is playing on the different teams — let alone who is the best in the league.

"I would truly like to see you and your staff get out and look into the local sports scene a little more. Don't take it upon yourself to support one team or one school over all the others. You seem to lean towards one school too much. I won't name the school in this letter but then I don't think I have to.

"In closing I would like to say that I think you would find that the athletes around the league are pretty good kids and deserve your support if you would only get out of your office and give them a chance. We have only three league baseball games on Tuesday and Fridays and I think if you started planning now you could have a member of your staff cover each of these games."

Johnson Was Unanimous All-Leaguer

Aune, a stickler for facts, apparently referred to Redwood Coach Al Endriss' statement about Johnson — in quotes — in the May 22 issue, not May 25. I had absolutely nothing to do with the statement except to quote it.

Furthermore, Johnson was unanimous All-League shortstop over Perachiotti and Biber, meaning Aune must have voted for him.

Further, Aune's statement that I apparently lean toward one school too much puzzles me.

I think he might mean Marin Catholic, for I am a mackeral snapper. But then again, I have nine block letters from San Rafael, my alma mater . . . But then again my niece goes to Terra Linda . . . And some of my favorite coaches work at Drake . . . My sister went to Tam . . . I think Novato is a fine school and I have earned a letter at Redwood.

Gee, I'm confused.

INDIANAPOLIS CROWD SETTLES DOWN FOR A LONG WAIT

Upwards of 300,000 auto racing fans jammed the Indianapolis Speedway this morning for the 51st running of the 500-mile race. However, shortly after the start of the race a thundershower forced a postponement. Details on page one. (AP Wirephoto)

BEATS HEILMAN

Shipes Clamors For Title Shot

OAKLAND (AP) — Charlie Shipes renews his clamor for a title clearing welterweight fight against Curtis Cokes with the added ammunition today of a solid victory over ranking middleweight Andy Heilman.

"I'd like to fight Cokes but I wonder if he wants to fight me," said the sharpshooting Shipes after handing Heilman only the third defeat of a career dating back to 1962.

Recognized in California as world 147-pound king, Shipes weighed 150 against 157 for Heilman, and the smaller boxer from Hayward gave his San Pedro foe a boxing lesson.

Hurt in the second round and with his nose bleeding from then on, Shipes beat Heilman to the punch with jabs and landed solid rights to the head. In the ninth, he had Heilman in trouble with a pair of those shots, and in the 10th he rocked him with a left hook.

"I tried for the knockout in the ninth and 10th, but he wouldn't go," Charlie said. "He's tough and a good fighter. He might be the middleweight champion some day."

Referee Vern Bybee and judge Elmer Costa scored it 5-3 and judge Rudy Ortega 4-3 while The Associated Press had it 6-3. Under California scoring, the winner of each round gets from one to five points.

There was no knockdown.

Shipes stopped Percy Manning of Philadelphia last December to win California's recognition as champion, but has been forced to fight middleweights since then to keep busy. He'd like to get back to men his own size and rates as the World Boxing Association's No. 1 challenger.

"I'd fight him any time, any place," he said of Cokes, the Dallas, Tex., fighter who owns the WBA's title.

A crowd of 8,533 paid $42,806 at Oakland's Coliseum Arena and saw a close fight until Shipes took command in the eighth after effectively countering and avoiding the heavier and stronger Heilman.

"I've met better, but he fought a smart fight all the way," commented the loser. "I'd like to meet him again."

Heilman said he hurt his left hip in the third round and it bothered him, but he didn't blame it for his loss. His record went to 27-3-3 while Shipes is 27-1-2.

Epstein Trade May Mean Flag For O's

BALTIMORE (AP) — Harry Dalton, engineering his second major baseball deal in less than 18 months, may have traded the Baltimore Orioles to their second successive American League pennant.

Moving to bolster Baltimore's struggling pitching staff, the Orioles' vice president swapped promising but unproven youngsters Mike Epstein and Frank Bertaina to the Washington Senators yesterday for veteran left-hander Pete Richert.

Epstein, who had gone home after refusing to report to the minor leagues, thus gained his objective of getting a chance to prove he has major league ability.

The Orioles, meanwhile, added to their starting rotation a pitcher who won 29 games during the past two seasons with eighth-place Washington, although his record so far this year is 2-6 with a 4.64 earned run average.

As far as opposing clubs are concerned, looking at the immediate effects of the trade, the Orioles picked up Richert for Bertaina.

Richert, 27, was rated by Dalton as "one of the top left-handers in baseball...the quality pitcher we have been looking for since last fall."

Bertaina, 23, has appeared in 29 games for the Orioles during the past four seasons, and has a 1-1 record this year. Baltimore officials have long rated him a potential winner.

Dalton maintained that the Orioles were not forced into the deal because of Epstein's refusal to return to Rochester, where he played last season and gained minor league player of the year honors.

"We were drawn to the deal because Richert was available to us, and we have been interested in him for sometime," Dalton said. "We merely analyzed our pitching to see what we needed, and what deals we could make.

"We have said all along that we wouldn't trade Epstein unless we could come up with an outstanding pitcher."

The 24-year-old Epstein, who had been unable to dislodge 25-year-old Boog Powell from first base and failed in a trial as an outfielder, said from his wife's home in Stockton, that he had just about given up hope that a deal would be made before the June 15 trading deadline.

"I had made up my mind that baseball and I had parted," the slugging first baseman said. "I'm elated it turned out this way. All I want is a chance to play."

Haller, Davenport Fatten Averages

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jim Davenport and Tom Haller came off the bench yesterday and drove in seven runs as their San Francisco Giants outlasted the Philadelphia Phillies, 12-9.

The slumping Phils are sending Jim Bunning (4-5) against Juan Marichal (8-3) today.

Philadelphia, still looking for its first 1967 win against the Giants after three losses, came close yesterday, scoring six runs in the ninth inning. But the late uprising wasn't enough to overshadow the damage wrought by Davenport and Haller in the Giants' season-high 18-hit attack at Candlestick Park.

Davenport, filling in at third base for the ailing Jim Hart, had a perfect day at the plate with four singles, two walks and three runs scored to boost his average from .255 to .305. He batted in two runs.

Taking over for catcher Dick Dietz in the fifth inning, Haller batted in five runs with a grounder and two singles.

Haller's heroics took place in the fifth, sixth and seventh when the Giants sent 26 batters to the plate for 10 hits and 11 runs off starter Dick Ellsworth and shell-shocked relievers Dick Hall, Grant Jackson and Pedro Ramos.

GETTING TIRED

"I was getting a little tired running the bases," mused Davenport, who scored in each of the big innings. "I'm not used to running that much because I haven't been playing."

"I can't remember getting four hits in a game since my first year in the majors (1958) against the Dodgers," he added.

Haller, who took the club RBI lead with 25 and hiked his average to .321, modestly discussed his success as a substitute.

"I've had five RBI's in a game before," he said, "but never in three straight innings. . . . or as a sub, but I've got to thank the guys for getting on base to give me the opportunity."

The game was run-filled from the start. Jesus Alou's triple and Davenport's single made it 1-0 in the first. Johnny Callison countered with a hoer off Bob Bolin in the second, and the Phils took a 3-1 lead in the third on a pair of walks, a stolen base, a passed ball and a single by Richie Allen.

Alou's double and singles by Davenport, Willie Mays, Jack Hiatt and Ollie Brown featured the four-run fifth. The Giants repeated the feat in the sixth with Mays' two-run double and Haller's two-run single doing the damage.

A run-scoring single by Brown and Haller's final two-run safety brought home three more in the seventh for an apparently safe 12-3 bulge.

TROUBLE IN NINTH

Trouble came in the ninth for Giants' reliever Joe Gibbon, who pitched shutout ball after taking over for Bolin. With two outs and Cookie Rojas on base via a single, Gibbon walked Gary Sutherland and Tony Gonzalez. Singles by Tony Taylor, Allen and Callison scored four runs and chased Gibbon.

Lindy McDaniel took over and yielded a two-run double to Don Lock before Rojas, batting for the second time in the inning, flied out and ended the game.

"I just got careless," admitted Gibbon, now 1-0. "With the big lead I just wanted to get the ball over and let the Phillies hit it."

Boxing Eliminations: Floyd Vs. His Shadow

Well, I see where the "heavyweight elimination tournament" has resolved itself down to three rounds of shadow-boxing between Floyd Patterson and his shadow. The shadow is a 3-to-5 favorite despite the fact it is the only opponent in the last five years which has not been able to put Floyd on the floor.

"Championship elimination tournaments" are anachronisms which go back to the days when prizefighting was pure sport and not just another way to raise money. The also go back to the days when there were lots of fighters. Today, there are so few that Floyd Patterson's shadow might be presumed to make the quarter-final round.

I HAVE SAID OF Cassius Clay, the Begum of Boxiana, that, contrary to the extravagant claims of people who never saw any other heavyweight champion, he was, at best, a middling-good heavyweight — but that "in the kingdom of the blind, the one-eyed man is king."

Well, the one-eyed man has been supposedly deposed and now the blind are going to come forth to claim his title.

SEVERAL OF THE "eliminators" have already declined the issue. Their reasoning is simple: Let the OTHER fellow eliminate. Then I'LL come forward and eliminate him.

In the lower echelons of boxing, there are always fighters who can beat SOME fighters. A Jerry Quarry, for instance, might always beat a poorly-protected, slow oldtimer where he might have the devil's own time with a clever, fast veteran (as witness Eddie Machen, who stood back and made Quarry fight a groping fight.) Quarry is like an Army that fights best from a pillbox but is lost attacking through an open field.

ERNIE TERRELL WILL stab the eyes out of a man who moves toward him. Floyd Patterson will beat anybody who concentrates on his stomach and ignores the blue plate special that is his jaw.

It's a charade anyway. Might as well pick a "champion" out of a hat. Or go down to the docks and tap the first guy who comes along. Find out if Sonny Tufts is busy.

ODDLY ENOUGH, it would not be surprising if the international edict stripping Clay of his title actually succeeded. Oh, not because any true sports fan would take it seriously, but simpyl for this reason: Clay is a young man without really overpowering skills save those of speed afoot. If he is unable to get matches for a year at a time, that precious timing which enables him to go through fight after fight without visible evidence of a glove being laid on him may be gone. A half a step would be enough. He does not have the firepower of, say a Joe Louis, who could go to the Riviera for a year and come back still able to knock you unconscious with a blow.

CASSIUS' HANDLERS have wisely perceived he needs constant, steady work. Gym-fighting won't do it. You get careless in a gym, protected with a helmet, feather beds for gloves, sparring partners keenly aware they are not supposed to make heroes out of themselves.

A one or two-year layoff and I suspect Cassius Clay might become what he would have been if he came along in an era of better fighters — a pretty good boxer and not much else. Only then would Supermouth be REALLY deposed.

FOR THE REST, I am afraid he is all too right. When the guy on the street says, "Who has the heavyweight championship?" the answer will be, "Cassius Clay."

We do have a couple of renegade "divisions" in boxing called the "junior lightweight" and the "junior welterweight." Until Clay resolves his difficulties, the winner of an "elimination" will be no better than the "junior" heavyweight champion.

Cincy Displays Wire-To-Wire Look

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pete Rose-Tony Perez entry is giving Cincinnati's front-running Reds that wire-to-wire look in the National League derby.

Rose and Perez kept long hitting streaks alive last night as the Reds divided a doubleheader with St. Louis to remain 1½ lengths ahead of the second-place Cardinals.

Perez' ninth inning triple and a sacrifice fly by Dick Simpson gave Cincinnati a 7-6 victory in the nightcap after the Cards captured the 11-ining opener 2-1 on Bob Gibson's six-hitter.

Rose, playing his first season in the Reds' outfield, stroked five hits — including three doubles — in the twin bill, running his hit string tto 25 games. Perez, who recently made the switch from first to third base, had an 11th inning single in the first game and two hits in the nightcap, extending his streak to 16 games.

Tom Haller, sent into the game as a pinch hitter in the fifth inning, wound up driving in five runs and leading San Francisco past Philadelphia 12-9 while Len Gabrielson hammered a three-run homer, powering Los Angeles to a 7-2 victory over the New York Mets in the only other games on the schedule.

Rose lashed two doubles and a single in the nightcap at Cincinnati, helping the Reds salvage a split despite the efforts of Cards' center fielder Curt Flood, who drove in five runs with a homer and two singles before being sidelined by a pulled hamstring.

Flood's two-run homer in the seventh tied the score at 6-6, but the Reds won it in the ninth on Perez' leadoff triple, a pair of intentional walks and Simpson's run-scoring fly to center.

In the first game, Gibson struck out 12 Reds on the way to his sixth victory against four losses. Cincinnati clipped him for a run in the seventh on Tommy Helms' double and Leo Cardenas' single. The Cardinals broke the 1-1 deadlock on 11th inning doubles by Tim McCarver and Julian Javier.

Gabrielson rapped his first homer of the year with two aboard in the Dodgers' four-run fifth, helping rookie Bill Singer record his first major league victory. Singer needed relief help from Ron Perranoski in the eighth after giving up nine hits.

Ex-Dodger Tommy Davis boosted his batting average to .342 with a double and two singles, driving in both New York runs.

DAVENPORT'S DAY — Jimmy Davenport of Giants slides home safely under Philadelphia catcher Clay Dalrymple in seventh inning of yesterday's game as San Francisco blasted the Phils 12-9 at Candlestick Park. Davenport had a perfect day at bat, hiking his average 50 points to .305. (AP Wirephoto)

BOATING

We Should Also Know Boat Safety On Land

By STAN DAVIES

Up to now, most talk about boating safety has dealt with the boat in its natural element . . . afloat on water, that is.

But as one sees more and more boats speeding along being towed behind cars at high speeds on super highways, boating education must soon consider the problems of boat safety on land.

A trailer boat actually spends the greater part of its life on land, and under greatly increased hazards, due almost entirely to the vulnerability of the trailer which carries it.

And I find the weakest spots are the trailer's wheels. Underinflation of tires causes them to heat seriously at highway speeds. The heat is transmitted to the wheel hubs, this melts the lubricant and, pretty soon, the bearings are running dry.

Then it's a toss-up which goes first — the tires or the bearings. Either way, if a blow-out or bearing failure, with the subsequent possibility of axle breakage, occurs at high speed, a serious accident is the result.

MOST TRAILER-BOATERS don't realize that their trailer tires must be inflated to much greater pressure than the car's tires. For instance, a 570/500 x 8 six-ply tire has to be inflated to 75 pounds pressure.

So important is trailer tire inflation, that, to anyone who has any doubt about whether he is inflating his properly, I suggest writing to the Rubber Manufacturers Association, Box 726, Madison Square Station, New York 10010. Ask for the "Boat Trailer Tire Manual." It's free.

THE MANUAL LISTS all sizes of trailer tires and types, with the recommended pressures and loads. The facts also apply to any other type of trailer.

However, there are other types of boat trailer problems, as these questions from readers indicate:

Q. How can I stop my trailer from swaying? It only does it at a certain speed.

A. Swaying usually indicates that the trailer is tail-heavy. Try this: Adjust the load so that one-tenth of the trailer load, or a minimum of 50 pounds, is resting on the car. I use our bathroom scale to chech mine.

Q. Can you give me state trailer laws?

A. Sorry, they vary from state to state in a bewildering jungle of red tape. It would take a book. You will have no trouble if you stick to these limits: Maximum width, eight feet; maximum length, 35 feet (car and trailer); maximum trailer gross weight, 3,000 pounds. Have two connections to the car (hitch and safety chains), turn signals, twin tail and brake lights at left and right sides of trailer (to indicate width, and two outside rearview mirrors on the car.

Q. How much faster do the small trailer wheels turn as compared to a car's wheels? Why are they smaller?

A. A car with 850 x 14 tires, towing a trailer with 570 x 8 tires (both common sizes) was taken as an example: The car's wheels made 100 revolutions while the trailer wheels made 187 . . . almost twice as fast. The reason trailer wheels are made small is to let the boat overhang the wheels, yet still keep it low for easy launching.

Q. How can I make the trailer wheel hubs watertight? Water and dirt get in when I launch my boat.

A. Most modern trailer hubs are fairly watertight, until they are run into cold water while hot, after a long run. The hot air inside contracts, drawing in water and dirt. The answer is to cool them off before dunking. Splash water over them.

Lt. Ashe Clinches Cup, But Faces Discipline

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The United States Davis Cup team today went through the formality of winding up an elimination match against Mexico that it already has won.

And perhaps the Americans had better worry more about the U.S. Army than Mexico or their next opponent, Ecuador.

Arthur Ashe wrapped up the North American zone elimination match yesterday with a victory over Rafael Osuna of Mexico, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2.

That gave the U.S. its third victory in the best-of-five tourney, and it was all over but the shouting—and a hailsotrm.

Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., went into the last match against Marcelo Lara of Mexico, taking the first set 8-6, but losing the second 6-3.

RICHEY LEADS

Richey was leading 3-2 in the third set when the central Mexican rainy season, which has just gotten underway, unleashed a ferocious rain and hailstorm. Cushions floated away on knee-deep waters as spectators scrambled for shelter.

Tennis club officials announced that the final set of the final match would just remain suspended, since it could make no difference to the result anyway.

"They were wrong," said Richey. "We have to play out the last set. It's in the Davis Cup rules that all matches must be completed, and Marcelo and I are going out there tomorrow and finish it."

The team also can worry about Ashe's status with the Army. Lt. Ashe revealed that his leave from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., was up yesterday.

"I suppose they'll just dock me a day's pay when I get back," he said.

The Army has been known to take a stricter view of soldiers overstaying their furloughs, and the U.S. team needs Ashe when they take on Ecuador, which won the South American elimination match against Argentina Sunday.

Miss Casals Eliminated In France

PARIS (AP) — Top-seeded Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., advanced to the quarter-finals while Rosemary Casals of San Francisco was eliminated in the women's singles competition of the French tennis champions today.

Mrs. King crushed Gail Sheriff of Australia, 6-1, 6-3. The match was interrupted for several minutes by rain in the opening set.

Helga Schultze of Germany ousted Miss Casals, seeded fifth, 6-1, 6-4. This match was played on a heavy, slippery court after rain delayed the start of play for two hours. Miss Schultze made good use of her exceptionally strong nd accurate forehand while the American girl had difficulty adjusting to the clay courts.

In other women's matches, Lesley Turner of Australia downed Galina Bakcheeva, Russia, 6-4, 6-2; Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones of Britain beat Pat Walkden, Rhodesia, 6-2, 6-2, and Kerry Melville, Australia, defeated Maylis Burel, France, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

Baseball Draft Slated June 6-7

NEW YORK (AP) — Major League baseballs' free agent player draft will be held in New York June 6-7, it was announced yesterday by Commissioner William D. Eckert.

The draft will be conducted in two phases, the regular and the secondary. Amateur players not previously selected may be chosen in the regular draft by big league teams in reverse order of their 1966 final standing.

The New York Yankees will have first choice followed by the Chicago Cubs, Boston, New York Mets, Washington and Houston.

The secondary draft includes players previously drafted but not signed by the selecting club. The secondary phase draft order was determined by lot and Baltimore will have the No. 1 choice.

The draft of American Legion players, previously held in August, also will be held at the June meeting.

Coach Suspended For Soccer Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Colrain, player coach of the Detroit Cougars in the United Soccer Association, drew an indefinite suspension yesterday following an incident in his team's opening game at Boston Sunday night.

Dick Walsh, commissioner of the new professional league which opened play last weekend, announced the suspension after sending a telegram to Colrain.

The incident occurred in the final minute of the game, played at Lynn, Mass., with Detroit and the Boston Shamrock Rovers finishing in a 1-1 tie.

Detroit forward Danny Trainor had apparently put his team ahead by banging the ball into the net. But referee Dan Graven disallowed the goal "because linesman Bobby Jack signaled that the Cougars were offside on the play."

During the argument that followed, Walsh said Colrain allegedly struck Jack in the face.

Consumers Cooperative Plans To Start Phase Two Soon

A $350,000 phase two of Consumers Cooperative is due to get under construction soon on Tamal Vista Drive, Corte Madera.

This will add about 15,000 square feet ot the first installment opened last March. The new space will be used for a restaurant (Miz Brown's), self-service and service laundry and dry cleaner and other tenants — about nine in all, I understand. Hachiro Yuasa of Berkeley is the architect, working with Marquis and Stoller. Contractor is A. B. Lahit.

MEANWHILE, now operating not far away from Marin Co-op at its new location — 10 Fifer Avenue, Corte Madera — is the recently completed Raydine Ice Skating rink, moved from San Anselmo.

This can be reached from Lucky Drive in Greenbrae. Owner Ray W. Schramm has more space than before, more ice and is working on a full schedule. And he has added a new introductory four-week course for $6 to enable novices to attain some degree of proficiency in ice skating before they become discouraged and give up the whole idea for some other activity.

The rink is closed on Mondays, but open the rest of the week. Hours are from 10 a.m. to noon in the morning and from 8 to 10 at night. Afternoon hours Tuesdays through Fridays are from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Bay Future Subject Of Luncheon

An analysis of the past, present and future of San Francisco, Alameda, San Mateo, Marin and Contra Costa counties will be the highlight of a joint luncheon meeting of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce on Thursday.

The meeting, at noon at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael, will feature Harold L. Buma, economist and administrative head of Bank of America's recently completed economic study, "Focus on the San Francisco-Oakland Metropolitan Area."

A summary of the bank's findings is being published this week by the Independent-Journal as a special feature of the business page.

Buma has been a research economist at Bank of America's head office since 1959. Previously he had been an economist with with the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco for six years and director of research for the California State Chamber of Commerce. He has been administrative head of Bank of America's economics department since last October.

Kuchel Urges Shipbuilding Federal Aid

SACRAMENTO — U. S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel has urged the federal government to treat shipbuilding as it has the aircraft and communications industries by giving financial support to help design and construct specialized ships for high-speed ocean bulk cargo and personnel use.

"It is time that America determine the size of her merchant fleet and the shipbuilding capacity necessary to meet the needs of the national economy and the national security," Kuchel said in a speech at the annual world trade seminar luncheon of the Sacramento City-County Chamber of Commerce.

Kuchel said the basic principle of providing Federal support to offset foreign competition in the shipbuilding industry "is sound, in my opinion."

The Senator linked export policy with shipbuilding as a common commercial venture for the United States to maintain its position in world trade.

He suggested as a possible spur to exports a tax rebate for exporters to help them compete with their European counterparts.

Foremost Reports Earnings Are Up

SAN FRANCISCO — Foremost Dairies, Inc., reported net earnings for the first quarter of 1967 were $2,617,000, as compared with $2,368,000 in the corresponding period in 1965.

Both figures included earnings from Foremost's operations and also Foremost's share of the undistributed earings of McKesson & Robbins.

BAY AREA FUTURE

Significant Increase In Manufacturing Seen

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Second in a series of articles on Bank of America's new economic study, "Focus on the San Francisco-Oakland Metroplitan Area.")

In 1975, the Bay Area will remain an important manufacturing center, with output increasing significantly in just about all major categories.

Although manufacturing employment in the rest of the United States is not expected to expand significantly above current levels, in the Bay Area it will rise from 209,200 in 1966 to about 225,000 in 1975.

DURABLE GOODS

This growth will be due to the already evident change in the area's manufacturing structure from nondurable to durable goods, according to Bank of America economists.

While manufacturing output continues to grow at a much faster rate than employment, the Bay Area will remain the second largest manufacturing complex in the 11 Western states. In terms of value added, manufacturing contributed about $2.6 billion to the area's economy in 1963, accounting for about 15 per cent of the total value added by manufacturing in California.

The Bay Area is the state's major center for such manufacturing activities as petroleum refining, ship and boat building and repairing, motor vehicles and equipment, paper and allied products, and chemicals and allied products.

The Bay Area is important as a headquarters location for a variety of corporations, in such fields as petroleum, paper, agriculture, banking, manufacturing, insurance, transportation and utilities.

In 1966, there were 25 major corporate headquarters in the Bay Area, compared with 24 in the Los Angeles metropolitan area which has more than twice the Bay Area's population.

Because of this characteristic, the Bay Area has attracted a whole range of firms designed to serve business and management: Advertising, accounting, engineering, economic research, management counseling, equipment, and office services. The spectacular expansion in high rise office buildings in San Francisco and Oakland augers well for an increasing demand in these services.

The services industry will employ more Bay Area workers than any other industry by 1975. The bulk of such jobs will be in medical services, business services, nonprofit organizations, personal services, hotels and motels, and miscellaneous.

GOVERNMENT PAYROLL

Government employment will also continue to expand.

The number of federal jobs in the Bay Area now exceeds that of the Los Angeles area, primarily because of military establishments that employ civilian defense workers.

This type of employment was gradually declining until the war in Vietnam, but has climbed sharply in recent months. Once hostilities are ended the number of Bay Area defense workers may resume its decline.

EDUCATION CENTER

The economic complexion of the Bay Area has been influenced by the area's role as a center for higher education and research.

Jobs on the Berkeley campus of the University of California, which also serves as administrative headquarters for the statewide UC system, number more than 17,000.

Of even greater significance is the role local educational and research facilities have played in attracting federal and private research and development funds.

These funds have come both to the schools and to the large clusters of research oriented firms around Berkeley and Stanford University.

This has, of course, also resulted in an inflow of highly trained personnel into the Bay Area, further strengthening its reputation as a research center.

The Bay Area and California as a whole have both been in the forefront in meeting the challenges posed by new technologies largely because they possess such high quality educational institutions, the Bank of America study asserts.

The continued success of the Bay Area in attracting high technology and research oriented industry will require that continued emphasis by placed on the region's institutions of higher learning.

Profits Shown During April

LOS ANGELES — Western Air Lines earned a net profit in April of $720,000, or 17 cents a share, J. Hudson Taylor, Western's senior vice president and treasurer, has reported.

This compares with $1,117,000, or 26 cents a share, in April, 1966.

The usual heavy Easter traffic last year was in April, this year in March.

Operating revenues for the month were $12,810,000, compared to $11,807,000 in April, 1966, and expenses increased to $11,241,000, up from $9,531,000 a year earlier.

Insurance Firm Elevates Four

SAN FRANCISCO — Four home office excutives have been named to vice presidencies as members of San Francisco Life Insurance Co.'s management team, according to George Edelstein, president.

Jerrald Axelrod is vice president, chief actuary; John K. Rowlan, is now vice president and treasurer; Louis J. Sorkin is vice president, agency; Donald Thomas to vice vice president, chief underwriter.

Insurance paid for at the end of the first quarter of 1967 was $17,059,820, a 37 per cent gain over the first quarter of 1966, San Francisco Life reported.

NEW PREMIUM TIRE

Next year's automobiles may be equipped with this "Wide Oval Radial," newest development of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. Designed for longer tread life (up to 100 per cent over conventional tires), traction and stability, it combines the best characteristics of two of Firestone's newest products—the Super Sports Wide Oval and the F-100 Radial ply tires.

Chamber Junk Mart Planned In Novato

The second annual Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce junk mart will be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the Nave Shopping Center parking lot.

For sale will be television sets, household furniture and appliances, and "the oddest assortment of junk ever assembled for one sale," according to James Schmitz and Kenneth Butterfield, who are in charge of pickups of donations for the sale.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stable Stock Best When Health Problem Exists

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I have been buying stock in the Bath Iron Works, where I have been employed. I am in low financial straits and have a terminal disease that may allow 15 more years of employment. My employer is sympathetic about my condition and I am allowed to work in jobs that I can handle. Should I hold this stock for long-term gains or should I get out when I can make a profit?" E. C.

A. I am genuinely concerned about your difficult situation and am glad that you have so considerate an employer. Bath Iron Works — which is changing its name to Bath Industries — is a long-established and respected shipbuilder for the U. S. Navy. They have done well over the years in a competitive and fluctuating industry. Earnings since 1959 have been in a general downtrend, though, and a sizable loss was reported for 1966. The shares have been moving down, too, and are not much above their lows for the past decade.

I believe that earnings recovery is likely this year but that in any event the stock is not suitable for a man in your position. I think you will be able to get out even and when you can do so, I would sell and reinvest in American Telephone, a relatively stable and secure stock which appears to me to be undervalued in this market.

Q. "For my retirement I hold Safeway Stores, which has declined. Should I switch this to General Telephone?" K. T.

'. Food chains, as a group, have been hurt by growing competition and rising costs. Safeway is the second largest in the industry with a sizable proportion of its operation in California, where price pressures have been instense. Earnings for the first quarter declined sharply and barely covered the dividend paid in that period. The company seems strong financially, but the near-term outlook is uncertain. For your purpose, I would switch to General Telephone and Electronics.

Teledyne, Inc. Reports Profits

HAWTHORNE — Teledyne Inc., has reported for the six months ending April 30, net income of $2.51 per common share after provision of preferred dividends, compared to the $1.40 per common share reported for the corresponding year earlier period on the smaller number of shares outstanding at that time.

Net income for the six months was $9,085,000 on sales of $179,731,000, compared to net income of $3,354,000 on sales of $74,310,000 reported for the first six months last year.

In 1966, personal income in the nine Western States, including Alaska and Hawaii, rose nearly nine per cent to almost $95 billion.

INVESTORS DILEMMA SOLVED

Sophisticated investors know that one of the best possible buys for appreciation and tax shelter is unimproved land in the path of urban growth. Returns are generally higher than from stocks or improved property; land is inflation-resistant; and requires none of the maintenance or daily attention of these other investments.

The only problem has been in knowing when you have the right piece of land in the right location; and at the right price and terms. Finding such a parcel nowadays is a full-time job. The land investor must use the same specialized "land finding" techniques available to major corporations, which are constantly searching for land for their porttolios.

LAND INVESTORS RESEARCH offers the individual investor these professional skills in the selection of his personal land investment. Trained economists with up-to-the-minute economic and industrial reports on the area; graduate land planners to examine the parcel in question as to the feasibility of ultimate development, and to discover any hidden problems that may exist; real estate appraising experts to determine value relative to the general area concerned.

LAND INVESTORS RESEARCH concentrates on properties in the North San Francisco Bay (Marin and Southern Sonoma Counties), because this area has the greatest potential and is the most overlooked of those in the path of industrial and residential growth.

If you would like further information on how you or your company can avail yourself of these services and opportunities in land investment, please return the attached coupon.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Revitalizing Of Cells Can Now Cure White Patch Skin

VAN DELLEN

Vitiligo is manifested by white patches that develop on the face, neck, arms, and the back of the hands due to loss of skin pigment. Normal skin usually tans on exposure to the sun but when vitiligo is present, the colorless areas remain startlingly white. When I was in medical school the condition was considered incurable because the cells that formed coloring matter were exhausted.

Psoralens changed this concept. These chemicals are capable of revitalizing the cells by making them sensitive to the sun's rays. The drug is administered orally. Direct application to the white patches is seldom recommended. Pigment is produced when the area is then exposed to ultraviolet rays. In some, color returns within a few weeks, but others must be treated for six months before improvement is noted.

THE PSORALENS are potent and must be used under medical supervision. In addition, they are useless unless combined with ultraviolet. Overdosage or too much sunlight may have an adverse effect. The initial exposure should not exceed 15 minutes and is increased gradually to 30 minutes. A painful sunburn is likely to follow additional exposure.

While the psoralens are of value in true vitiligo, they are useless in depigmentation that occurs after injury, burns, or infections such as leprosy. In these instances, the color-producing cells have been destroyed and nothing can reactivate them. The patches can be stained the color of normal skin.

PSORALENS DO not cure. Repigmentation is maintained by the continued use of the drug. Reactions following local application of the chemical are unpredictable and often severe. Tattooing the white area with gold salts or concealing the blemish with special creams or lotions is preferred by some dermatologists.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

NEW EYES

O. T. writes: How often must plastic eyes be replaced?

REPLY

A change is necessary when the surface of the prosthesis becomes rough and irritates the membranes or when the eye socket shrinks so that the artificial eye no longer fits. The average plastic eye must be replaced every two years, though some persons use them much longer.

GROWING PAINS

Mrs. H. S. writes: My 14-year-old son complains of feeling sluggish all day long. He has an enormous appetite and drinks an excessive amount of water. Are these signs of adolescence?

REPLY

He has all the earmarks of a lack adaisical, hollow-legged adolescent but consult your family physician, for the boy may have diabetes.

CROSSED LEGS

C. L. writes: Is it all right for a person with high blood pressure and heart trouble to cross the legs when sitting?

REPLY

Yes, because this posture will neither increase blood pressure nor weaken the heart.

PREGNANCY AND TB

J. E. writes: Is a girl with arrested tuberculosis taking an unreasonable risk in becoming pregnant?

REPLY

Not if she is reasonable during pregnancy.

NO STERILITY DIET

Mrs. G. writes: Is there any special diet that will keep a woman from becoming pregnant?

REPLY

This is not a dietary problem.

FULL BLOODED

K. A. writes: Does drinking cause polycythemia vera?

REPLY

No. To my knowledge, no one knows why some persons possess an oversupply of red corpuscles and hemoglobin (coloring matter) at sea level and in the absence of a heart or respiratory disorder. The use of radioactive phosphorus is an excellent way to decrease the number of red cells.

ELECTRIC THERAPY

V. D. writes: What does E. S. T. mean in relation to a nervous breaddown?

REPLY

The initials stnad for electric shock therapy. This remedy is used to combat severe mental depressions and other serious psychiatric disturbances.

HEADS UP OR DOWN

S. P. writes: Why do some animals like dogs drink with the head down while others, such as chickens, hold their heads up?

REPLY

The ability to suck in water and squirt it back into the throat explains why most animals, including dogs and cattle, are able to drink with the head down. This mechanism is lacking in fowl and explains why they hold up the head so that water can trickle into the stomach by gravity.

CORONARY DISEASE

F. J. writes: Is hardening of the arteries around the heart considered heart disease?

REPLY

Yes, because the coronary arteries are part of the cardiac apparatus. But symptoms of heart disease will not appear until the muscle suffers from lack of nourishment due to narrowing of the coronary vessels.

CONCENTRATE

C. P. writes: How can a student improve his powers of concentration?

REPLY

This requires practice and motivation. It is easier when the mind is not cluttered with anxieties, frustrations, feelings of guilt, and other distracting influences.

SIGNS OF DRINKING

V. R. writes: If you suspect a person to be an alcoholic, what signs confirm your suspicions?

REPLY

Alcohol on the breath and his behavior pattern. The condition also is suspected when a person with a flushed face is nervous and shaky and takes frequent nips during the day.

SPLIT FINGERTIPS

Mrs. R. writes: What is a good remedy for cracked fingertips? They are worse during cold weather.

REPLY

Our leaflet on skin cracks describes the various causes and measures to relieve the condition. You may obtain it by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NIGHTLY LARYNGITIS

R. J. S. writes: What would cause a laryngitis that only occurs at night? The moment I get up in the morning, the congestion starts to clear and, by the time I've finished my juice, it's gone. I don't even have a cold.

REPLY

Mucus adheres to the throat and vocal cords leading to a temporary "coarseness" of the voice. It probably is associated with a postnasal drip or bronchitis.

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

T. W. writes: Is pernicious anemia a serious disease?

REPLY

It was, prior to the discovery that liver is an effective remedy. The disease must not be neglected, however, and today vitamin B12 is used in addition to liver extract.

Today's Health Hint — Special diets ought to be recommended by the physician.

Sugar Intake Linked To Coronary Victims

LONDON (SS) — A high intake of sugar rather than fats is suggested as a cause of coronary thrombosis by a British professor of nutrition writing in the March 16 issue of NEW Scientist, published here.

The fact that the tremendous research effort by thousands of scientists all over the world has so far failed to establish that fats are the major cause of this killer disease is one reason for an equally intensive investigation of sugar, Dr. John Yudkin of the University of London says.

"Recent Yemeni immigrants into Israel have little coronary thrombosis," he points out, "but those who have been in the country 20 years or so become prone to the disease. The major change in their diet is a considerable increase in sugar; the increase in fat is small."

Similarly, he cites two examples — from East Africa and from the island of St. Helena, a British colony in the South Atlantic. The Masai and Samburu tribes of East Africa have almost no coronary disease although they take a great deal of fatty meat and milk. Their high physical activity is believed to make them immune.

In St. Helena, however, the people are equally active but although they eat much less fat then the East African tribes, they suffer considerably from the disease. The only obvious difference is that the islanders have a high sugar consumption and the tribes have a low intake.

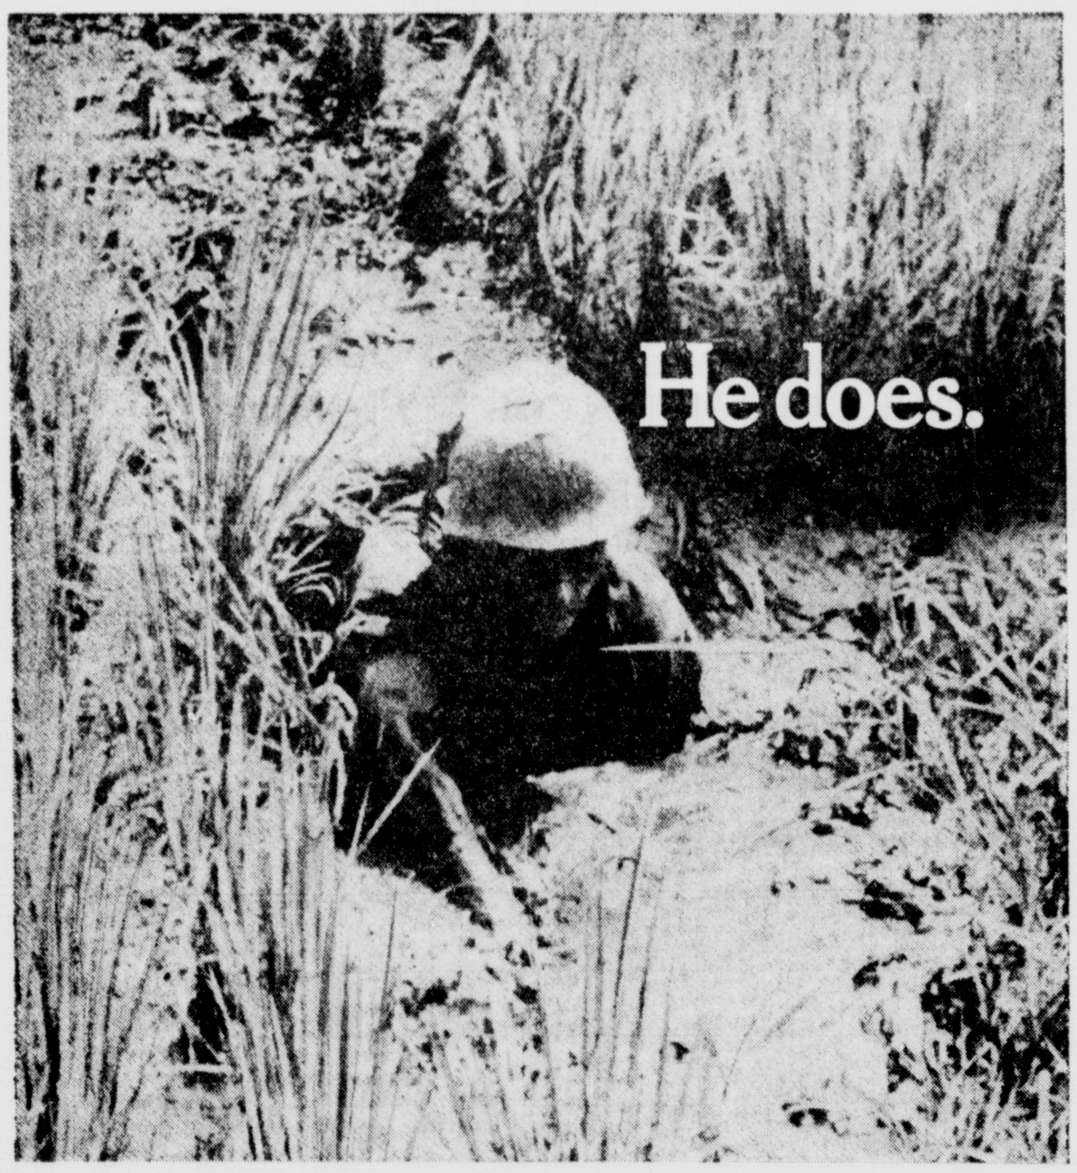
"As far as I know," the nutritionist states, "there is no exception to the generalization that the incidence of coronary thrombosis in populations is proportional to their sugar consumption, though since the disease takes 20 to 30 years to develop, it will be related to long term levels."

Tot Is Injured; Struck By Auto

Three-year-old Terry Lee White, of 548 D Street, San Rafael, received minor face bruises yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a car at D and Frances streets.

Police said the boy pulled free of his older sister and darted into the street in front of a car driven by Laura Anne Prater, 19, of 8A San Pablo Avenue, San Rafael. He was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Buy Bonds where you work.



It's miserable work, crawling through a rice paddy. And being shot at. This American does the job for freedom's sake. So do thousands of his buddies. Many of these brave men also support freedom with their dollars. A majority of our servicemen overseas are investing in U.S. Savings Bonds. Would you like to show this man you're with him? One good way is to buy Savings Bonds where you bank or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. You'll make a good investment. And you'll walk a bit taller.

U.S. Savings Bonds

Bond facts: Savings Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 at maturity in only seven years . . . are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen . . . have special tax advantages . . . can be redeemed whenever the need arises.

TV REVIEW

'Coronet Blue' Is Really A Heavy Series

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Coronet Blue," a new CBS-TV series, posed this question last night: can a soulful young man who loses his memory after being tossed off an ocean liner by hoodlums find happiness in his search for his identity? Well, it's summer, and this, of course, is a replacement series.

For identification purposes, this hour entry is a drama, not a comedy. In the opening episode, the soulful young man, after being thrown overboard and losing his memory, is treated by a doctor who then lets him walk away on his own. He gets a job in a coffee joint, stumbles across an elegant party where he meets a beautiful girl whose father puts him to work in his shipbuilding firm, and goes on a picnic where the young lady is accidentally killed by a bullet intended for him. "Coronet Blue" is not — repeat, not — a comedy.

AN OFFSPRING?

It is, of course, yet another twist on "The Fugitive," which has already been responsible for several other offspring series. The difference is that in "Coronet Blue," which CBS-TV describes objectively as an "absorbing story," the young man is "menaced by unknown enemies determied to prevent him from uncovering his past." I do hope they succeed, and quickly, so that we do not have to put up with the cheaply commercial psuedo-sophistication of the script for long.

Pseudo is the tag for this series. It is psuedo-chic, pseudo-"with it," psuedo-everything, but especially in the way that a middle-aged man often is when he tries, to the embarrassment of almost everyone, to bridge the generation gap by using cliches and attitudes from respected, academic, establishment magazines for over-the-hill intellectuals.

BEHIND TIME

Network and most production companies are dominated by middle-aged men. They are surfeited also with men whose hearts are still in the 1930s. They haven't the slightest idea of what is really going on now. And not knowing, they have no perspective, and tend to overemphasize the publicized trivialities, and thereby perpetuate them, and eventually wind up widening the generation gap.

No matter how you size up the young man of "Coronet Blue," he is still just another twist on television's old pitch for the juvenile audience through the glorification of a poor, misunderstood punk.

In the not too distant past, the poor misunderstood young man was epitomized in the Harry Guardino-Anthony Franciosa-John Cassavetes-Ben Gazzara syndrome. In "Coronet Blue," the young man (Frank Converse) does not suffer quite as grandly. Like much else today, he is smoother and tougher and is given far too much credit for qualities that are yet to be proved exceptional.

Northgate Poised To Go Wild West

The "wildest west of all" will be the scene at Northgate Fashion Mall when "the West goes Wild at Northgate" Saturday, June 3. Prizes, exhibitions, food, fun, and excitement will combine to make a visit to Northgate a must on Saturday.

Starting at 11 a.m. there will be a fast draw exhibition by Cliff Cormier, leader of The Plainsmen, a well-known fast-draw group. After his exhibition, Cormier will conduct a "kiddie shoot." He will brief his young contestants on the art of the fast draw (any child may enter if he brings a cap gun and holster) and then hold a shooting match to determine the "Fastest Draw in Marin."

At noon, youngsters of all ages will participate in a greased pole climbing contest. This hilarious event will continue until someone gets to the top — a feat more difficult than it sounds!

At 1 p.m. the slow-draws begin. Turtle races conducted by Zack's Turtle Club will be seen in the pool in the Central Mall. Turtle owners are invited to bring their pets and enter them in the races.

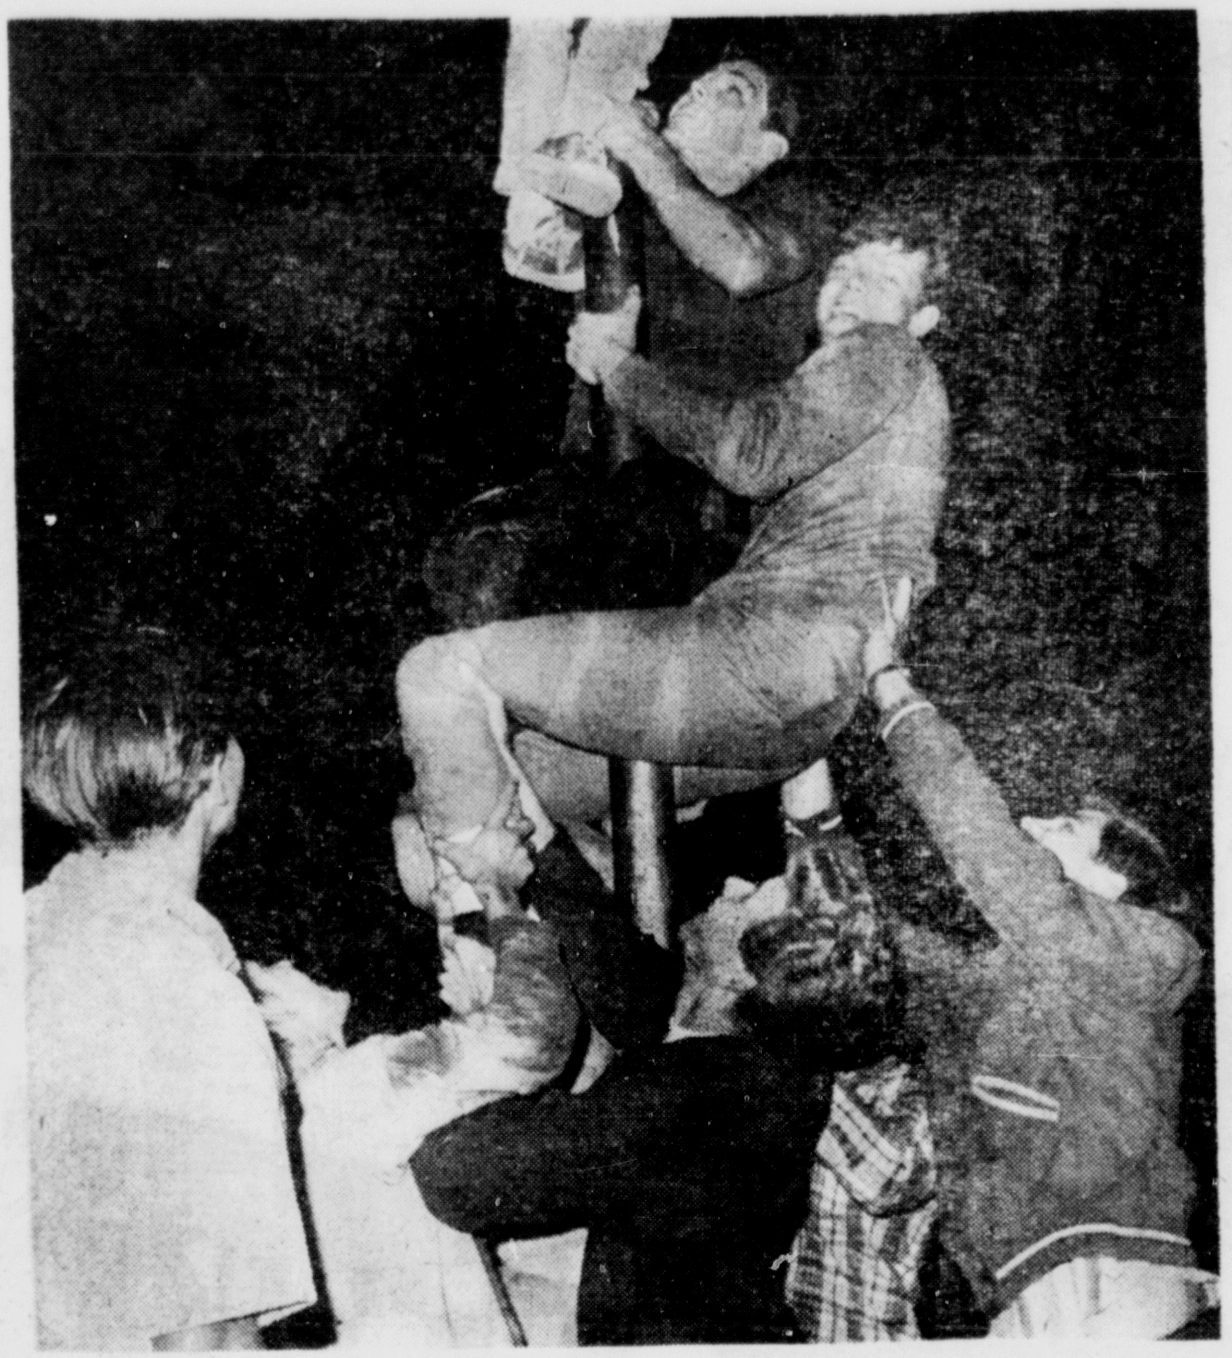
Whether or not you are hungry, you will want to enter the pie eating contest at Northgate at 2 p.m. Prizes (and bicarb) will be awarded to speedy eaters. Contest is open to anyone with a big mouth!

Hissing, booing, and cheering will be in order when the Novato Community Players present scenes from their famous melodrama at 3 p.m. on Saturday. This Western Weekend melodrama, to be seen in full in Novato two weeks later, will have its fragile heroine and valiant hero trying to conquer the cruel villain.

Western style food will be offered for sale throughout the day as part of the "West Goes Wild at Northgate" celebration. Hungry shoppers can buy sandwiches and drinks from the San Rafael Jaycees who will be selling the food at the south end of the Mall. Proceeds will be used by the Jaycees for community projects.

The program will end late Saturday afternoon when the Northgate Merchants Association holds its drawing for prizes. Winners will receive a vacation at Apple Valley Inn, a trip to Knott's Berry Farm, or a day at Frontier Village in San Jose. There will also be free tickets to Novato Western Weekend events awarded.

The North American Air Defense Command agreement was signed by the United States and Canada May 12, 1958.



SLICK WAY TO REACH THE TOP— One of the contests at the Northgate Fashion Mall's western celebration Saturday will be a greased pole climbing at noon — open to all ages and sexes. Prizes will be awarded to those who reach the top.

Mall's Transformation Prelude To Novato's Annual Celebration

The festivities at Northgate Fashion Mall this weekend are a preview of Novato's 12th annual Western Weekend, opening June 18.

Novato's festival has been designed to recreate the spirit of the Old West. Included in the 8 day celebration will be events representing the fascinating heritage, both historic and romantic, of our pioneer past.

Northgate's preview of Novato's Western Weekend includes a fast-draw exhibition, melodrama, and other events not seen in Novato. Novato's celebration begins with an RCA rodeo on Sunday, June 18, at 1 p.m. Tuesday, June 20, the melodrama will be presented in full, by the Novato Community players, and they will judge the beard contest.

On Wednesday, June 21, the Western Weekend grounds open at Sunset San Marin. Sunset San Marin is located just north of Novato at the intersection of San Marin Drive and Highway 101. From 12 noon on till Sunday evening, June 25 you will be able to see many of the things which made the west famous.

There will be a Wells Fargo history exhibit including the "Buffalo Bill" Cody stage coach which was used in his wild west shows, and other memorabilia from their vast collection.

Also in this area will be a collection of antique guns, Civil War uniforms, and women's historic costumes.

During the entire five days at the Western Weekend grounds a Navajo medicine man will perform the ancient art of sand-painting, while a Navajo weaver explains her craft and Navajo dancers perform various tribal dances.

There will also be an exhibition of antique airplanes, the Belgian Horse Fair, a Boy Scout Camporee, appearances by Paul Bunyan, square dancing, dinners served each evening by the Old Spaghetti Factory Cafe, a carnival and many other surprises.

On Saturday evening, June 24 at 6 p.m. the Twilight Parade will take place on Grant Avenue. Highlighting the parade will be Sir DeVal — the largest Percheron stallion in the world, beautiful floats, the Western Weekend Queen, and the eight-horse Belgian team pulling an authentic circus wagon.

After the parade there will be added attractions on the grounds including a performance by the Barbershop Chorus and an exhibition of fast-draw by The Plainsmen.

Casual Furniture Display Brings Outdoors Inside

Set in outdoor-like surroundings indoors — that's City of Paris' new Casual Furniture Shop keyed to the comfortable, casual and "on the elegant side" Marin way of life.

Simulating attractive patios, the decor of the shop features trailing vines, huge planters, and "pretend" arbor accents. Cool, airy and sunny, it faces on glass doors that open onto a "for real" grassy area.

If your tastes run to casual elegance, you'll find selection of wrought iron indoor and outdoor dining sets from such famous makers as Meadowcraft and Gallo, all chosen for durability as well as beauty. Browse through the shop and you're sure to find the design, color and size set just right for your home or patio.

And, for relaxing or cooking out in the California manner, the shop features California redwood pieces — seating groups, dining tables, chaises, as well as aluminum seating groups, chairs and chaises and barbeque sets to delight the most knowledgeable outdoor chefs.

For "cooling it" at poolside, on the patio or at the beach, are gay, colorful umbrellas in nearly any size you want.

FAST DRAW ARTIST — Cliff Cormier, expert with the Colt .45, will be at Northgate Saturday morning to conduct a "kiddie shoot" for children up to age 12. Contestants should bring their own cap guns and holsters.

Fast Draw Event Set For Kiddies

Cliff Cormier, the leader of the Plainsmen, a group of expert fast-draw artists, will present a special performance at Northgate, Saturday, June 3, at 11 a.m. In addition to his exhibition of trick shooting and target shooting, Mr. Cormier will conduct a "kiddie shoot" for all children up to age 12. Potential "fastest draw in Marin" contestants should bring their holsters, cap guns and caps with them to Northgate and enter the fast-draw competition. Any child may enter, but he or she must have holster and gun.

The Plainsmen, all experts on the fast-draw, include many phases of trick shooting and target shooting in their act. Cormier's performance is a preview of what's in store for visitors of Novato's Western Weekend celebration June 21-25.

Cormier was raised on a ranch and has always loved the art of the fast-draw. He uses a Colt .45 in his act. He has won trophies in Arizona, Nevada, and California.

Negro Schooling

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Improvement in Negro education is indicated in a Census Bureau report which says a total of 28 per cent of Negro adults 25 years and over in the United States has completed four years of high school or more by 1966, compared with 20 per cent in 1960.

City Of Paris Opens Elegant 'Linen Closet'

If your decorative ambition is to have one of the loveliest bedrooms, bathrooms or boudoirs in Marin County, the place to start looking is in City of Paris' newly opened "Linen Closet."

At home now in elegant new surroundings are those luxurious new Miralux sheets from Lady Pepperell. They're the ultimate in sleeping beauty and as practical as they are lovely. Made of Dacron and cotton, they never need ironing, never yellow . . . and, they keep their no-iron finish for the life of the sheets. In the Linen Closet you will find them in white or the exquisite "Rose Toile" pattern.

More bedroom beauty, too, is to be had in all the fine sheeets and pillowcases from Wamsutta. For the purist, there are the classic white sheets; the decorator, there are the hemstitched sheets and cases or those with white or colored scalloped edges.

On the side of practicality and comfort for your bedroom, the Linen Closet offers famous Serene pillows in sizes for every bed and every head in the home — thermal blankets that give year-round comfort because they're cool in the summer and warm in the winter when used with another blanket — and, protection for your fine blankets in practical covers by Sybil Shepard.

To make interesting table talk, the Linen Closet suggests designer place mats in a bountiful array of stylings, colors and fabrics for contemporary or traditional table settings.

And, there's no reason to sell your bathroom short when you have such a fine selection of printed towels to coordinate or complement the color scheme. You'll find a wide variety of prints and colors in towels from some of the most famous names in the country, such as Cannon, Stevens and Martex.

To round out bathroom decor and to reorganize and beautify closets, the Linen Shop features bathroom sets, beautiful and practical accessories for your closets.

Tobacco stock supplies are down 4 per cent from last year, according to the Department of Agriculture.

STOCKADE MUSEUM — This new structure will be an attraction of Roy Rogers' Apple Valley Inn, where winners of the Apple Valley drawing at Northgate Fashion Mall on June 3 will receive three days and two nights accommodations.

Roy, Dale Rogers To Host Lucky Northgate Visitors

Fun for all is the promise for the Northgate Fashion Mall winners of Western-style vacation at Roy Rogers' Apple Valley Inn in Apple Valley, California.

Winners who enter the Apple Valley drawing at Northgate on June 3 will receive three days and two nights of fun, including luxurious accommodations, outdoor steak fry, buffet dinner, social hour, outdoor activities and entertainment privileges.

Owned by Western star Roy Rogers and his wife Dale, Apple Valley Inn offers guests swimming, fishing, hiking, riding, golfing, tennis, shuffleboard, sunshine, temperate days and cool nights.

Rogers recently announced plans for a "stockade museum" for display of mementoes collected by Dale Evans and himself during their colorful show business careers.

The museum will display thousands of items presented to and used by the "King and Queen of the Cowboys and Cowgirls" over the past 30 years. Best known exhibit will be Roy's internationally known horse, Trigger. Mounted following his death, Trigger appeared in all of the 87 motion pictures starring Rogers, as well as the 101 television programs which co-starred Rogers and his wife.

The walk-through museum, designed to resemble a Western stockade on the exterior, will feature Roy and Dale in wax at the beginning, showing Dale at the piano and Roy playing the first guitar he ever owned.

As guests proceed through the structure, they will see the world's largest and finest collection of longhorns, Roy's $50,000 silver saddle, plus the one he rode in the Tournament of Roses Parade during Trigger's lifetime. Other displays will show his collection of vehicles, such as his glamorous convertible mounted with guns and silver dollars and "Nellybelle" his famous jeep.

Other areas, done as dioramas, will show such exhibitions as a huge polar bear Roy shot during one of his many hunting trips to Alaska, plus numerous trophies from African expeditions. The collection will also contain numerous guns, saddles, boots and other Western gear.

One corner will display mementoes gathered during the Rogers' recent trip to Vietnam, made in honor of their son, Sandy, who died while on duty with the U.S. Army.

The museum is designed so that the Rogers may continue to collect and add to the thousands of items which will be seen there beginning this month.

CALL FOR TURTLE RACERS — All area turtle owners are eligible to compete for prizes in Northgate Fashion Mall's race Saturday at 1 p.m. conducted by Zack's Royal Order of the Turtle.

Turtle Races Are Coming To Northgate

There will be fun and excitement at Northgate Fashion Mall Saturday at 1 p.m. when the Turtle Trots begin. Conducted by the famous turtle club from Zack's in Sausalito, Northgate patrons are invited to bring their own turtles and enter the competition for prizes.

The turtle races at Northgate will consist of 14 events. There are six classes of turtles and each class runs twice. There are also two grudge races. The classes of turtle established by the Royal Order of the Turtle are midget, small A, small B, medium, large and monster. If you are not sure in which category your turtle belongs, the master of ceremonies, Bill Sandborn, will help you.

The first series of races are the perimeter races. In the Perimeter event, turtles are placed within an open starting gate in the middle of a circle. When the gate is removed, the turtles are free to crawl toward the border. The excitement begins when some don't crawl. Faced with a mob of screaming onlookers, they may just stand there. Or they run for the wrong edge, stop, or return to the middle. Shadows across the finish line and even pointing may "spook" the turtles and detract them from running.

The Steeplechase requires turtles to swim as well as run. At the starting signal turtles are expected to inch their way along a ramp which is inclined, plunge down a steep slope, tumble into a water tank and swim to the end of the tank. Often this is where the turtles lose heart. Sometimes there will be an entire row of turtles at the top, trying to get enough courage before sliding headlong into the water.

Members of Zack's Royal Order of the Turtles keep their own racing stables. Stables presently racing are Ponsio, Sherwood Forest, White House, Hooks Handout and Canadian Maple Leaf, among others. Each stable marks its turtle distinctively with a racing stripe on the shell of the turtle or various blobs of color on the shell. The "winningest" turtle at present is Mr. Ugy, a "small A" turtle who has had 44 wins. His toughest competitor is the Red Baron. Other popular turtles this month are Ralph, Diamond Lil, Clyde, LBJ, Friar Tuck and John Diefenbaker.

Known by area residents for its "wine, women and turtles," Zack's is built on land that was at various times a beach for sailing vessels to get fresh water, an opera house, and a garage. Besides its turtles, Zack's is so well known as a meeting ground for the swinging set that a motto has evolved — "If you walk out alone, you haven't tried."

The turtle races at Zack's have been going on for five years. They started one evening when owner Sam Zakessian heard a commotion on the patio. He went out and discovered that some guests had bought turtles at the Wharf and were racing them at ones of the tables, from under coffee cups. Sam felt if they were having so much fun with just a few turtles, it would be great if everyone brought turtles and had weekly races. And so it has been on Wednesday nights and probably will be until the voice of the turtle yells stop!

Mao Revolution May Hurt China's Welfare

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Mao Tse-tung may win his battle for the "cultural revolution" but lose the war for long-term economic growth in China, one economist has predicted.

"The economic effects of the 'revolution' will not show up immediately but should be noticeable by the time of the fall harvest," said Prof. Alexander Eckstein of the University of Michigan. "The disrputions in transportation, manufacturing and agriculture should have some serious negative effects," Eckstein said.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

Bay Couples 'Adopt' Fifth Needy Child

A group of five Bay Area couples, known simply as the U.S. Charitable Foundation, recently "adopted" their fifth foster child — an eight-year-old Ecuadorian girl.

Prominent in local business circles, they prefer to keep their anonymity. One member has business interests at Northgate. But they are among the thousands of Americans who contribute aid as individuals or in small groups through an international organization, Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., headquartered in New York City.

The "adoption" is financial, not legal, and costs $15 a month per child for a minimum of one year. Foster parents often continue supporting the same child until he graduates from school or reaches 16. The U. S. Charitable Foundation, for example, has sponsored its first four adoptions for many years. If at any time the foster parent cannot continue, the child is assigned to another foster parent. Once enrolled he is assured of continuous care until he is capable of caring for himself.

Foster Parents' Plan is 30 years old. Beginning with a tiny boy orphaned by the Spanish Civil War, the organization now cares for 45,000 children around the world. Originally the program stressed rescue and relief, but the emphasis today is on rehabilitation, not only for the foster child but for his entire family. In Korea and the Philippines vocational training is given the foster child's older brothers and sisters. They are taught marketable skills. In Korea, for example, the director first lines up jobs in industry, then has the older sisters and brothers trained to fill the jobs.

The medical program is also stretched to cover the entire family on the theory that it is impossible to maintain a healthy child in a sick family. In many of the countries where the plan works, fully staffed medical centers are available to all members of the family.

For information, write to Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Park Avenue South, New York, N. Y. 10010.

Take Highway 101 — Terra Linda Turnoff

Northgate Fashion Mall Annual Art Fete Due Soon

Summer at Northgate Fashion Mall means the Terra Linda Art Association's Annual Art Show. This year's show will be held on June 16 and 17. It is almost time again to enter, purchase from, rent, or just browse through the mall, listening to the bubbling fountains and studying the fine pieces of artistic accomplishment.

The range of media for this year's show will include collage, palette, oil, tempera, charcoal portraits, and water color.

For those who prefer "live" art, there will be men and women around the Mall showing off their particular skill in "Art in Action" demonstrations.

Art in action features extroverted members of the Terra Linda Art Association who show their skills as they work. These members are not only confident enough in their techniques to work publicly, they also have a good time doing it! They will welcome any probing questions, profound or otherwise.

A more complete schedule of "art in action" events and particiapnts will be available at Northgate during the show.

More than 500 works of art will be exhibited this year. Area artists not already members of the association are welcome to join and submit work for the show. Interested artists should contact Deni McNamara, 249 Mt. Shasta Drive, San Rafael, for more information.

The Terra Linda Art Show at Northgate will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Friday, June 16, and 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, June 17.

Scientists estimate that the world's population of about three billion represents about 4 per cent of the earth's inhabitants since the beginning of mankind.

PRIZE VISIT OFFERED — Frontier Village in San Jose will host winners of one of this week's Northgate contests — a full day of rides, entertainment, refreshment and other attractions — as guests of the Northgate Merchants Association.

Three Families Will Win Frontier Village Outings

Three lucky families will be the winners of a fun-filled day at Frontier Village Amusement Park in San Jose. As guests of the Northgate Merchants Association, winners in the "West Goes Wild at Northgate" contest will be chosen from entries deposited this week at all Northgate Fashion Mall stores. Winners will be announced Saturday, June 3 during the Western Weekend Preview celebration.

Frontier Village, a unique entertainment center, has an Indian Island with live Indian dancing and authentic Indian dwellings. There are rides and attractions such as the Lost Frontier Mine Ride, antique autos, stage coach ride, burro pack train, stampede, trout fishing, shooting gallery, and "El Sito Mysterio." Winners may watch the gun fights, the Gold Coast Players, and visit the Silver Dollar Saloon. They may visit the picnic area and enjoy the seclusion and beauty surrounded by giant redwoods.

Terra Linda Arts Group Open To All

The Terra Linda Art Association, now incorporated, has regulations much improved since its beginning four years ago when members of the art classes at Terra Linda Recreation Center put together an impromptu exhibit of their works.

Encouraged by enthusiastic community reaction, the sale and rental of paintings and expressions of a desire to help on the part of merchants, Terra Linda residents and the Terra Linda Recreation Park District called in January, 1964, when the association officially organized and elected a board of directors.

Membership in the association is open to anyone in Terra Linda and the surrounding area who is interested in the growth and encouragement of the visual arts, artists and art patrons. The fee is $2 annually. The association offers facilities for shows and exhibits, sponsors lectures, films, art in action demonstrations.

Northgate Winners To See Knott's Old West Display

The lucky family that wins an all-expense paid day at Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town in Buena Park, California, will experience an unforgettable day as it takes a steamboat ride, visits a jungle island, rides a miniature train, tours a haunted shack, or pans for real gold at the Gold Mine.

As guests of the Northgate Merchants Association, the winners of the "West Goes Wild at Northgate" contest may gather 'round the pot-bellied stove in the general store and watch old-timers play checkers while swapping stories about life in the hills. Candy, clay pipes, hardware, horse collars and high buttoned shoes are stocked in this supermarket of years gone by where prospectors shopped in the 1840's.

Visitors may strike it rich when they pan for gold, or view a replica of Independence Hall in Philadelphia, complete with a Liberty Bell. Another favorite attraction at Ghost Town is the Calico Mine Co. ore car which takes visitors past workmen of the "Glory Hole." Guests see exciting mining operations complete with ore cars loaded on the way to the smelter.

The trip to Knott's Berry Farm is sponsored by the Northgate Merchants Association. Entries can be obtained at all Northgate stores beginning May 31. Drawing will be June 3.

Terra Linda Artists Plan Northgate Show

This year's jurors at the Terra Linda Art Association's Art Show at Northgate Fashion Mall June 16 and 17 will award cash prizes in five categories. The Northgate Merchants Association has donated prize money that will be distributed over the following classifications:

1. Non-objective: Abstract work in any media. Important to the artist are color, shape, texture, and design.

2. Figurative: Work in any media depicting a human or animal form.

3. Other objective: Realistic work in any media. The object of the painting can be clearly identified. Examples are landscapes, seascapes, still life.

4. Sculpture: Three-dimensional work in any material; wood, stone, wire, papier mache.

5. Hand crafts: Any hand-crafted work such as weaving, pottery, ceramics, jewelry. Commercial molds or kits disallowed.

Visitors at the exhibit regardless of their knowledge of art will have an opportunity to say which piece of artwork they like by entering their choices in a ballot box at the show. "Most Popular Entry" will win a gift certificate.

Outdoor Event Highlights Artists' Many Activities

Under the guidance of president Tom Buchanan, the Terra Linda Art Association has continued its endeavors to provide services and benefits to its members and the community. From the original membership of seven to today's more than 300, the association has retained the atmosphere of informality.

In addition to the Outdoor Art Festival, by far the most ambitious undertaking of the year, held annually in June at Northgate Fashion Mall, the members hold an "Irish Coffee" fund-raising event complete with a Silent Auction, conducted by Al Newman.

Monthly programs are always stimulating due to the selection of guest speakers. Recently members heard Wes Wilson, the Fillmore Auditorium poster maker who specializes in difficult-to-decipher psychedelic lettering; Ed Cory, of Cory Galleries who offered suggestions on how to sell paintings; Jim Burtron of Creative Merchandisers who gave hints on "do-it-yourself" framing; and Al Newman's demonstration of "fire-cracker" painting.

On a broader plane, the association continues its search for the right facilities to permanently house its shows and exhibits, and is discussing the possibility of conducting art classes designed for children.
